FRANCE WINS BLOODLESS VICTORY IN RHINELAND AS RAIL STRIKE ENDS

German Resistance Has Broken Officials Declare; Backdown Is Predicted Throughout the Entire Nation On Saturday

Paris, Feb. 3.—German resistance has been broken in the Rhineland and Ruhr and France has won a bloodless victory of the first magnitude, according to officialdom and the press today.

The calling off of the German railway strike by the German authorities is regarded as the first step in a general backdown all along the line. The rail strike was the backbone of German passive resistance.

Echo De Paris reveals that Germany has sent a note to the inter al lied reparations commission protesting against the allied decision of Jan 26 holding Germany in voluntary default of all payments and deliveries pledged under the Versailles treaty. The note pointed out that the treaty obligated the reparations commission to "study Germany's resources and capacity for payments" before making such a decision.

Echo De Paris quoted a British diplomat as saying:

"Germany has hoisted the white flag. "In its editorial comment this newspaper declared:

"France will hold on to what she has siezed until everything owed by Germany is paid. Germany will have to pay everthing she obtain from the Ruhr.

Phillippe Millet, writing in the Petit Parisien, said that France is resolved not to hold any negotiations with Germany until the Germans accept French occupation of the Ruhr as a legitimate result of German defaults on reparations payments.

According to the Matin, French reparations experts are studying new guarantees which will be imposed as a result of Germany's failure to pay 500,000,000 gold marks indemnity due January 31.

"It is necessary for Germany to give unequivocal satisfaction before our repressive measures are halted," said the Matin. "Premier Poincare believes that the 1918 armistice was premature. He will NOT grant an armistice now in the war that is purely economic."

OHIO VALLEY IN PATH OF BITTER COLD WAVE NOW

Chicago, Feb. 3.—A cold wave swept the West and Northwest today.

The mercury in Chicago dropped to zero at 9 a. m., a fall of 34 degrees in 24 hours. Reports from other cities told of corresponding drops in temperature.

Bismarck, N. D., and St. Paul both reported temperatures of 24 below zero and at Kansas City the mercury stood at 2 above at 7 a. m.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The cold wave from the Northwest will overspread the lower lake regions, the Ohio Valley and the Atlantic states as far south as South Carolina and Georgia within the next 24 hours, the weather bureau announced today.

There will be northwest gales and overcast weather along the middle and north Atlantic coasts.

SENATE PASSES FARM BILL; NOW GOES TO HOUSE

Measure Passes by Unanimous Vote--Provides for Credits

Washington, Feb. 3.—By unanimous vote the senate passed the Lenroot-Anderson bill, the second of the farm credits measures. It now goes to the house.

The bill provides for a maximum credit of $1,320,000,000 for agricultural loans through the existing farm loan system by establishment of 12 credit departments in the 12 land bank districts. Each would have $5,000,000 capital from the government, with authority to double the entire capital of $60,000,000. Authority to issue $1,200,000,000 in tax-free debentures, to provide additional loaning capital, would be given, subject to approval of the farm loan board.

The new credit departments would make loans from six months to three years on agricultural paper to cooperative agricultural associations on staple products or live stock. Interest rates chargeable would not be in excess of 1½ per cent above the land banks' rediscount rates. The debentures authorized would not bear more than 6 per cent interest, under an amendment by Senator Fletcher, adopted by the senate after its acceptance by Senator Lenroot, coauthor of the bill. An amendment by Senator Harrison to have direct loans made to individual farmers was defeated.

In passing the Lenroot-Anderson bill the senate rejected the substitute measure of Senator Norbeck, for which a strong fight was made with the backing of some agricultural organizations. It provided for centralization of farm credit funds by proposed administration of the war finance corporation. The co-operative bank plan of Senator Brookhart also went down to defeat.

The senate adopted an amendment by Senator Pomerene providing that loans to co-operative agricultural associations should be limited to 75 per cent of the market value of staple products of live stock given as security.

KLAN INVESTIGATION IS NOW NATION WIDE

Department of Justice Agents Invade Dozen States to Prove Reports of Alleged Lawless Activities Of Organization

Washington, Feb. 3.—The governmental investigation of Ku Klux Klan activities begun in Louisiana as a result of the hooded mob murders there has assumed nation-wide proportions, it was learned today.

An army of Department of Justice agents have invaded a dozen states, scattered from coast to coast, to determine the truth of charges that the klan's "invisible empire" has commited crimes of violence in violation of cvil and crminal law, terrorized state and national judiciary and nullified the powers of state governments in many communities. The result of this investigation may be the basis of governmental investigation of the klan in federal courts, it was said.

Some of the criminal charges brought against klan organizations, it was learned involve offenses ranging from kidnappings to murder. It was said to be the purpose of the government to determine whether these hooded mobs, some of which wore the full regalia of the klan, were acting with full authorization from the local klans or were klansmen misappropriating the "hood and gown" of the invisible empire.

Besides the alleged commission of crimes the political activities of klan organizations also is reported to be undergoing investigation by the federal agents. These "political activities," according to charges lodged with the department, involved the influencing of court's peace officers and juries in a number of states.

Informatioin obtained here today indicated the federal investigation of the klan already has been extended to the states of Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma, Colorado, Ohio, New York, Massachusetts and Georgia besides the hooded mob murder case in Louisiana.

GUARDSMEN ARE CALLED TO CITY AS RIOTS OCCUR

Corbin, Kentucky, Scene of Disorders—Hotel Is Dynamited

Corbin, Ky., Feb. 3.—National guardsmen arrived here early today to patrol the city following the urgent representations of Mayor Gilliam and Sheriff Young of Whitley County to Governor Morrow that the situation was out of their control.

The appeal for troops is the direct result of the recent dynamiting of a hotel, and the street battle a few days ago in which two men were killed.

A detachment of 25 men from Company B, London, Ky., were on duty throughout the city and the remainder of the company were held for orders at the London armory.

The troops are commanded by Lieut. W. A. Clark, Jr., who has been here several weeks as the representative of the state adjutant general.

The cause for the calling out of the troops, according to Sheriff Young is the tenseness of the situation, revolving around the shooting last Tuesday of two men and the blowing up of a hotel occupied by strike-breakers employed by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Sheriff Young said Jess Barker and J. C. Barker, brothers, were resisting arrest, in connection with shooting of Special Officer Day, and James Parker, a yard engineer.

Whitley county, long famous for its "bad men" has been the center of the most disorder throughout the strike of the shopmen, and while the city was quiet this morning officials openly expressed fear of a serious outbreak.

Railroad officials were silent but alert, and evry employe was under strict orders to keep himself where he belonged and to avoid contact with strikers or their sympathizers.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEKS ALLIANCE WITH U. S.

Nation Engaged in Laying Groundwork for an Anglo-American Accord, as War-torn Countries of Europe Have Little to Offer

London, Feb. 3.—With infinite pains and diplomatic skill Great Britain is engaged today upon the construction of groundwork and background for an Anglo-American accord. If the British are able to bring it about the understanding will be embodied in a definite treaty of amity.

Because of America's policy of non-intervention in European affairs, considerably strengthened in the past four years, British officials do not hope for a cut and dried alliance of defensive nature. But far-seeing statesmen in the British empire are convinced that the time is coming, probably within the next year or two, when Britain must turn from Europe to strengthen her world position.

The bankrupt, war-torn nations of Europe will have little or nothing to offer. Asia is out of the question. The British overseas dominions are not sufficiently powerful for London's needs. There is only one place to turn to: The United States.

The Anglo-French entente is virtually dead. The two countries are split upon all the vital international issues. British and French interests in the Near East are divergent and it has been difficult to maintain allied solidarity at Lausanne.

The British were willing to reduce German indemnity, but the French refused.

Great Britain in the past three years has maintained a policy of moderation towards Russia against the wishes of France.

It is no secret in London and Paris that the old balance of power is gone. Since the war France has been contracting new alliances with Belgium, Poland, Jugo Slavia, Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia. If the Lausanne conference breaks down completely France probably will contract a separate treaty with Turkey.

Great Britain is making one international gesture after another to attract the friendship of the United States. The more important of them may be thus listed:

1—Abrogated the Anglo-Japanese alliance because it was offensive to America.

2—Immediately ratified the Washington conference treaties limiting naval armaments.

3—Speedily accepted America's terms for payment of the war debt owed.

BRITISH RENEW NEAR EAST WAR PREPARATIONS

Action Taken On Eve Of Time Limit Given to Turkey

MAKE CONCESSIONS

Allied Powers Make More Offers to Prevent Conflict

Malta, Feb. 3.—Great Britain renewed her Near East war preparations today on the eve of the time limit given to Turkey to accept or reject the Lausanne peace treaty. Two additional warships sailed for Turkish waters bearing large supplies of ammunition. Reinforcements of British marines and infantry departed, also, for the British fortress at Chanak, at the narrows of the Dardanelles.

Lausanne, Feb. 3.—The allied powers made further concessions to Turkey today in an effort to persuade the Angora government to accept the Allies Near East peace terms. It was agreed that Turkey should maintain as many troops as she desired in Thrace. Hitherto the Thracion forces had been limited to a few thousand gendarmerie. The Allies refused hower, to agree to the Turkish demand for plebescite in Mosul to determine whether this territory, with its rich oil fields, should be united with the Turkish state or considered a part of the kingdom of Irak.

The fight against Turkish acquisition of Mosul has been led by Great Britain which would lose control of the Mosul oil fields if Turkey obtained that territory.

The allies refused even to discuss a Mosul plebescite, holding that the question already was before the league of nations.

The impression was given that the concessions made today were the final limit of what Turkey might expect.

Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation was given until tonight to accept or reject the allied terms.

FARM MARKETS GREAT PROBLEM SAYS BRADFUTE

Xenia Man Addresses Columbus Chamber of Commerce Forum

Columbus, Feb. 3.—"The biggest problem confronting the American farmer and the American people is an improvement of the marketing problem," asserted President O. E. Bradfute, Xenia, American Farm Bureau Federation, addressing the Columbus Chamber of Commerce forum.

"A second big promblem is a better form of financing," continued President Bradfute. "The farm will not run on 60 or 90 day paper. It takes a year to grow grain, three years to grow livestock and the farmer wants credit accordingly. A third problem, confronting the farmer is transportation.

"It is to the direct interest of every banker, business man, laborer and professional man to put the farmer back to his normal purchasing power," President Bradfute declared.

FILM STAR LEAVES ESTATE OF $50,000

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—Wallace Reid, motion picture actor, who died here recently, left an estate aggregating $50,000, according to a petition of administration letters on file today.

The only heirs mentioned were his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Davenport Reid, his son, Wallace William Reid, Jr., aged 5, and his adopted daughter, Betty Anna, 3½ years old. No will was left by the star. The bulk of the estate was the Reid home against which is $14,000 mortgage.

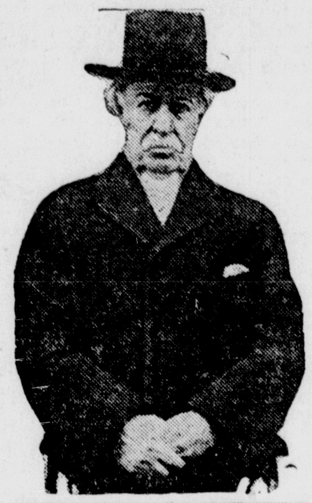

CHANGE IN TRAIN SCHEDULE MADE

A light change in the time table of the Pennsylvania Railroads here was announced Saturday by officials.

The east bound accommodation which now arrives here from Cincinnati at 9.25 o'clock in the morning and leaves for Columbus at 9:35 o'clock, will arrive 19 minutes later according to the new schedule.

The accommodation will get here at 9:44 and leave at 9:50, in the future, the change becoming effective Monday, February 5. Under the old schedule that was in effect before the numerous changes made in January, this train arrived at 8:12 and left at 8:27.

POSSIBILITY OF NEW WAR SEEN BY EX-PREMIER

Lloyd George Predicts That Trouble Will Result From Ruhr Seizure

Plymouth, England, Feb. 3.— The possibility of a new war, resulting from French seizure of the Ruhr, was mentioned by former Premier David Lloyd George upon his arrival here today from Spain. Troubles are being laid up for the whole world, the statesman added.

Immediately after landing, Mr. Lloyd George called for back files of the newspapers. He plunged into these papers and studied them with care, especially events in central Europe.

Subsequently the former premier issued the following statement to International News Service:

"The European outlook is bad; unquestionably bad. It is difficult to say whether war will be the outcome. Germany economically and politically is in a bad way.

"Occupation of the Ruhr was an act of gross folly and the wrong way to approach the reparations problem. It is the surer way of not getting reparations from Germany and it is laying up a store of trouble for the world which I do not care to contemplate."

He said he believed the American terms for funding the British war debt were "very stiff," but that he was glad the issue had been settled.

The former premier was bronzed and in fine spirts. He said his long stay in Spain had benefitted him immensely.

Asked if he intended to reenter the political fray, Lloyd George responded:

"There will not be any fray. We have got to get the country out of a mess."

TERRIFIC WIND STORM STRIKES SOUTHERN CITY

Sixteen Are Reported Injured in Mississippi Section

LOSS IN THOUSANDS

Floods Add to Discomfort of Inhabitants of Two Counties

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 3.—One town was almost blown away and sixteen persons injured last night when a wind storm struck Tate and Tunica Counties in Mississippi, according to advices reaching here today.

Property damage, it was said, will run into thousands of dollars.

Telephone reports said six houses were destroyed at Savage, Miss., and only one store building left standing. The Yazoo and Mississippi valley station and section house were damaged and the entire community was flooded by overflowing waters from Coldwater river. Dawn found residents of the section wading in water searching for their belongings.

The storm started two miles south of Evansville, in Lake County and swept through there with only slight damage. Ten houses between Evansville and Savage however were blown away.

LITHUANIA ISSUES DEFY TO ALLIES

Stockholm, Feb. 3.—The Lithuanian Parliament has rejected the allied ultimatum for withdrawal of the Lithuanian troops from Memal and has adopted a resolution to incorporate Memel as part of Lithuania, according to a dispatch from Kovna today.

The allied ultimatum had remanded dissolution of the Lithuanian provisional government as Memel as well as evacuation.

Paris, Feb. 3.—During the closing session of the League of Nations Council today Rene Viviani, of France, and Earl Balfour, of England, threatened that the Allies will impose an economic, financial and diplomatic blockade upon Lithuania unless that country accepts the Vilna neutral zone. Vilna was formerly the Lithuanian capital.

Following the Russo-Polish war Polish troops invaded Lithuania and seized Vilna, refusing to give it up. Then the allies proposed creating the territory into neutral zone. Poland accepted the proposal but Lithuania refused to do so.

BILL INTRODUCED WOULD LICENSE ALL REAL ESTATE MEN

Columbus, Feb. 2.—Provision for regulation of the real estate business throughout Ohio by licensing real estate brokers and salesmen, is contained in a bill which Rep. Dearmond, Butler county, introduced in the house today.

The proposed law is sponsored, it was stated, by the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards and is credited with being similar to a law operating in 14 states for periods ranging from two to six years. The primary purpose of the measure, it was explained is to protect the public against unscrupulous real estate dealers.

It is planned to have the state director of commerce supervise operation of the proposed law which calls for a license fee of $10 annually for each broker and $2 a year for a salesman. The fees would be expected to provide a fund much in excess of the cost of administering the proposed law. Brokers would be required to take a state examination while both brokers and salesmen would be required to give bond.

"Many unscrupulous persons are being eliminated from the business in adjoining states and there is danger that they will move into Ohio and enter the business here when their licenses are revoked in those states, unless we adopt a similar measure here," declared John F. McCrehen, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards.

State May Spend $300,000 For Buildings at Home Here

A building program for the O. S. and S. O. Home, including the erection of four new buildings and extensive repairs and involving a total expenditure of about $300,000, is being contemplated by officials of the institution, and will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees Saturday evening.

Plans laid by officials and which were approved by the finance committees of both Houses of the Ohio Leislature, during a recent visit to the Home, include construction of a new laundry building, dry cleaning building, school house, gymnasium, swimming pool and the remodeling of the old laundry building, and the present school house. Boilers and stokers for the power house, crusher and coal conveyor, laundry machinery, and new dry cleaning machinery are also included in the proposed improvements.

The Board of Trustees has approved the plans, and will discuss the complete details of the work and the amount of money needed to carry the plans through Saturday night. Supt. Sylvis Garver said Saturday that he believed the members of the finance committee of the House of Legislature see the need of the improvements and that the appropriation will be allowed by the members of the budget committee.

If the appropriation is allowed the work on the new buildings and the repair work will be begun soon according to Superintendent Garver. The money will be available about the first of July and the work will be started about that time.

With the addition of the new school building, one of the buildings now in use at the Home, will be converted into a manual training school for the boys of the institution, according to Superintendent Garver. The new building will be built as a High School, for both boys and girls, and will be constructed near the other buildings, in the space between the chapel and the school buildings. Only floor plans for the High School and the other buildings have been submitted to Superintendent Garver by the State Architect, the size of the new buildings, or the material for construction being undecided until the settlement of the appropriation.

The construction of a new gymnasium and swimming pool at the Home is in answer to a long-felt need on the part of the pupils, no facilities having ever been installed for this purpose. The new gynasium will be built near the group of school buildings, according to the tentative plans.

The distribution of new wool blue and gray uniforms among the boys of the institution, at Christmas time, has led to the introduction of the dry cleaning department at the Home, the new military dress uniform requiring dry cleaning instead of laundering. The dry cleaning department is to be installed as a part of the regular educational work of the boys of the institution, according to Superintendent Garver. The new dry cleaning building will be constructed near the power house, according to present plans.

As soon as the appropriation bill has passed the House, the work on the new buildings will be begun, Superintendent Garver said.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS CALL MEETING OF MEMBERS MONDAY

The future of the Chamber of Commerce will be decided at a special meeting called by the Board of Directors to be held in the organization rooms Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce and others, who are interested in civic organizations of its nature are asked to attend the Monday meeting and sit in on the solution of either the future or the disposition of the organization. Either those interested will attempt to see some ray of hope for the Chamber through the fog difficulties that surrund it, or they will be used to conduct the post mortem.

Cards of invitation are being sent out by Miss Janice Owens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. They read: "Man Alive! This is important. A matter of life and death. Chamber of Commerce meeting, Tuesday, February 6, at 7:30 o'clock Come and bring a friend with you to discuss the future of the Chamber of Commerce in Xenia." The invitation is signed by the Board of Directors.

YOUTH ACQUITTED OF GIRL'S MURDER

Lock Haven, Pa., Feb. 3.—"Not guilty!"

On the forty fourth ballot, taken shortly after they had been locked up for 114 hours, the jury in the case of Anthony Capello, local youth, accused of the murder of littlq Elizabeth Harley, school girl following an alleged joy ride, returned a "not guilty" verdict today.

The jury, it is said, had until the final ballot, stood 8 to 4 for acquittal from the first.

The defense contended that the girl was killed, not by any slayer, but accidentally when she was thrown from the automobile against a pole.

NEW ORCHESTRA IS ORGANIZED HERE

The "Harmony Kings" is the name of a new orchestra that has been organized here, according to announcement made Saturday.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS ARE REPORTED FROM PARTS OF COUNTRY

Washington, Feb. 3.—What was described as a "very violent" earthquakedisturbance was registered on th seismograph at Georgetown University here today. The disturbance was still in progress at 1:15 p. m. No estimate of the probable location of the quake can be made until the tremors cease, permitting an examination of the instrument.

Denver, Feb. 3.—The severest disturbance ever recorded on the seismograph instrument at St. Regis college here were reported today by Father Forestall. He said he believed they were caused by serious earthquake shocks but how far distant they were had not been figured. Father Forestall when informed of the earthquake at Milan, declared indications here were that the disturbances were from earth shocks across the Pacific ocean.

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 3.—An earthquake starting at 9:20 Pacific coast time today, which is still proceeding was of such violence that the recording pens of the university of California seismograph were thrown from the drum.

Officials of the observatory were unable to estimate how far away the quake is or in what direction.

OPERA SINGER RESENTS JOKE AND GETS PUNCHED

While on a train en route from Chicago to Boston, with other members of the Chicago Opera Company, Harry Cahill, interpreter of the company attired himself in the clothing of Hazel Eden, one of the sopranos, and proceeded to "vamp" William Back, a baritone. The flirtation went along splendidly until Beck discovered the deception and said unkind things to Cahill, as a result of which he is nursing a sore jaw, which came into contact with Cahill's fist.

REVEAL NEW PLOT TO RELEASE MRS. CATHERINE KABER

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—A new plot to release Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, serving a life term in Marysville reformatory for the killing of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Clevelander, in 1919, was revealed by Marysville reformatory officials to members of the Senate finance committee yesterday, Senator George H. Bender, a member of the committee, said here today.

A woman in Cleveland is being sought by county authorities in connection with the plot to release the woman, whose sensational murder trial here a year ago last summer held the front pages of newspapers for weeks.

Code messages between Mrs. Kaber and her outside confederates have been exchanged for weeks, according to Senator Bender and their passage was not intercepted by prison officials in the hope that a key to the cipher used could be found and the identity of the persons involved thoroughly established .

Shortly after her incarceration, Mrs. Kaber made plans to effect her escape which were discovered and frustrated by the matron.

OHIOAN UNDER ARREST.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 3.—A man giving his name as George Gallagher, arrested in connection with the robbery of a pawn shop in Cincinnati last March 23, in which three men obtained $50,000 in diamonds and jewelry, has admitted having taken part in the robbery, according to local officials.

GROUNDHOG IN GALOSHES DOES NOT SEE SHADOW

Brer Groundhog tramped around in the mud and rain with his goloshes and umbrella Friday trying to find enough sun by which he could cast a shadow of gloom without avail.

Not once during the day did the sun give the erstwhile forecaster an opportunity to cast his evil prediction of six more weeks of winter weather.

As a result, in spite of the promise of the government weather man of colder weather and in spite of the fact that the colder weather was very much in evidence, Xenians are inclined to pin their faith on the little animal prognosticator and are firm in their belief that spring is just around the corner.

BELLBROOK MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral services for Gideon Mills, 76, well known Bellbrook resident, who died suddenly Tuesday, were held from the late home, Thursday afternoon, in charge of the Rev. M. H. Way of the Union Church, with interment at the Bellbrook Cemetery.

Mr. Mills was found dead in bed Tuesday morning, and had been dead for several hours when found. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for about a year, a sudden attack being thought to have caused his death. At the time of his death he weighed over 300 pounds. He resided with his sister, Miss Lametta Mills, who survives with one brother, Charles Mills of Bellbrook.

OLD FASHIONED FAMILY REMEDY FOR COLDS, GRIP, PNEUMONIA AND BODY BUILDING

Father John's Medicine Builds New Strength During the Getting-Well Stage After Any Illness.

A Doctor's Prescription. Free From Alcohol and Dangerous Drugs—67 Years in Use.

The getting-well stage of grip is the most dangerous of all because the body, weakened by the grip, is wide open to attacks of other lurking disease germs.

That is why all the organs of the body must be kept in their best working order, not only to drive out the poison left by the grip germ, but that the patient shall regain strength as soon as possible to avoid further attacks resulting from the poisons in the system.

As a means toward good health after the grip Father John's Medicine builds up the body because it is all pure wholesome nourishment and free from opium, morphine, chloroform or other poisonous drugs or alcohol. Father John's Medicine has had sixty-seven years' success for colds and throat troubles, coughs and sore throats, and as a tonic and body builder.

QUASHING INDICTMENTS ON TECHNICALITIES.

The Spring Valley preacher, who deserted a large family and eloped with a young girl, ought to be in the penitentiary now. Yet he is a free man, with all that that implies, because of a technicality in the paper that sent him to the Dayton work house. It is shameful that such trivialities should be used to let law violators escape their just punishment.

Here is a like case. The chief of police of Ocala, Florida, with three other officers were recently indicted for murder in the first degree as a result of the killing of the driver of a speeding automobile, who declined to halt. The affair caused such a stir that a special grand jury was impanelled and the indictment found after a thorough investigation.

Now comes some smart lawyer and finds a word misspelled in the indictment—the stenographer touched the wrong key—, and the indictment is quashed. It is not claimed the defendants are any the less guilty or innocent. Their guilt or innocence has nothing whatever to do with it.

But the work of the court and grand jury is all undone because of the misspelling of a word. Such annulling of law on technicalities is bringing our courts into disrepute and encouraging mob violence.

ONE OF THE GREAT MEN OF THE PAST GENERATION.

If James G. Blaine had lived until the thirty-first day of January of this year he would have been ninety-three years of age. Mr. Blaine was not only one of the great men of his time, but he was one of the greatest statesmen the country has ever produced.

Mr. Blaine was a man of wide experience. He taught school; studied law; edited newspapers; served as a member and speaker of the Maine legislature; state chairman of the Republican party; member of Congress; United States Senator; Speaker of the House of Representatives; Secretary of State under two presidents, and was a candidate for the presidency.

Many people are under the impression that Blaine was a native of Maine. He wasn't. He never saw that far-corner state until he was 24 years old. He had the honor of being born in the little town of West Brownsville, Washington County, Pa.

At the age of thirteen Blaine entered Washington College in his native county, where he graduated in 1847, at the age of seventeen. It is claimed that at nine Blaine could recite Plutarch's lives. His favorite studies were history, literature and mathematics. After graduating he secured a job as teacher in the western military institute at Blue Lick Springs, Ky. While teaching at this place an important incident occurred that resulted in completely changing the course of Blaine's life and place of residence. He was introduced to Miss Harriet Stanwood, of Maine, who was attending a young ladies' seminary in the neighboring town of Millersburg. It was one of those "at first sight" affairs. A few months later they were married.

James G. Blaine came from notable ancestors. His great grandfather, Col. Ephraim Blaine, was a close friend of George Washington. He was an officer of the Pennsylvania line, and during the last four years of the Revolutionary War served as Commissary General of the Northern Department.

PLANT A TREE.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt planted a tree Wednesday to the memory of his brother, Quentin, in the school yard of the public school in Washington where they were students as boys when their father was President.

It had been many years since Colonel Roosevelt had visited the school. He sat in his old seat a moment and told the class how he used to pull the pigtail of the son of the Chinese Minister. who sat ahead of him. The tree was planted by the American Tree Association.

There can be no argument against a movement to plant a tree of some sort for every man, woman and child in America. Operating on the idea that you must first come to realize the value of a tree the American Tree Association at Washington offers to make every person who plants a tree a member, and if you do not know how to plant one the association will send you free instructions. Looking through the editorial expressions on the subject it seems about time to quit fiddling around and get some trees planted. That will show you mean business. The association wants us to become a nation of tree planters and celebrate the centennial of Arbor Day in 1872 by planting trees in honor of that event right now instead of waiting. If somebody had only thought of this 50 years ago there would have been thousands of people now demanding that something be done on a wholesale scale toward replenishing our forests stocks.

SAMPLE OF EUROPEAN "ENTANGELMENT."

Chancellor Seipel, Austria's Priest-Premier, was hung in effigy at Vienna Sunday night by a crowd of 3000 workers, following the largest demonstration since the great riot of December, 1921. The demonstration showed the solidarity of all the laboring groups against the financial program, which, though it is bringing the first hope of sanity into Austria's postwar affairs, is doing it at the cost of thousands of unemployed.

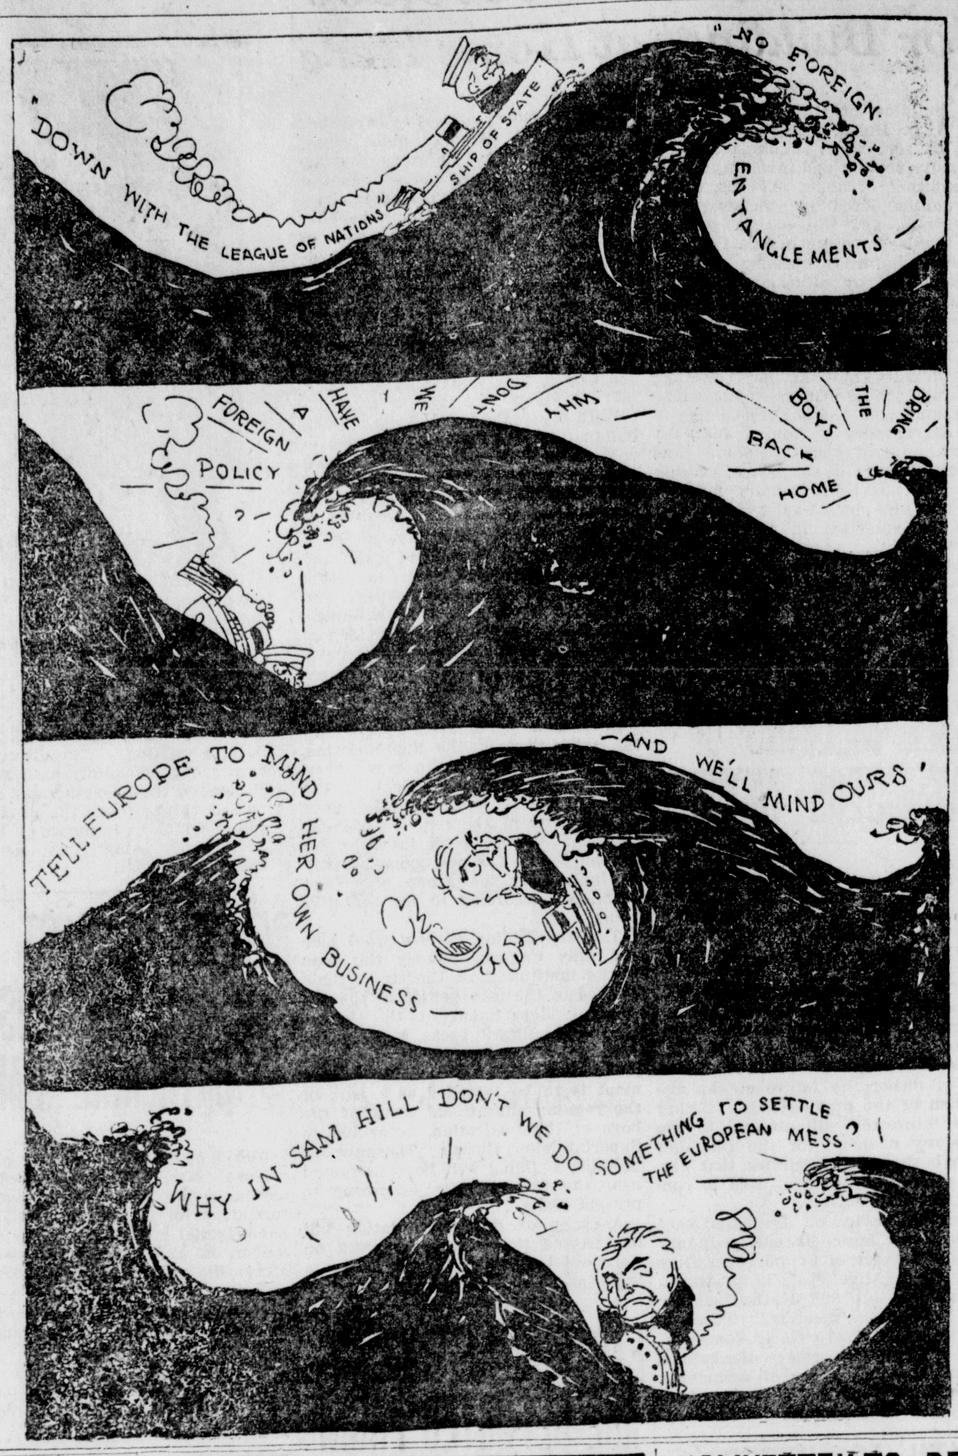

The chief demonstrators were dismissed officials, 24,000 of whom already are workless under the Government's economizing plan. Twice that number are still doomed to go. The professional and official middle classes marched under the Socialist banner in the demonstration.

Bitterness against the program of reconstruction has been increased by the further collapse of the German mark and the resultant conviction that all the Central Europe currencies will inevitably crash down again despite sacrifices and economies.

Order was rigidly maintained during the demonstration, though shops were closed as a precautionary measure.

It is participation in these European "entangelments" that some are urging. But George Washington, in his farewell address, solemnly urged us to keep out of them. We have enough troubles at home to keep us busy. Surely the American feeling is that we have had enough of the horrors of war to satisfy us for the next generation.

OH WHAT ARE THE WILD WAVES OF PUBLIC SENTIMENT SAYING?

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

A great deal of comment has been caused by the posting of an order at the Pan Handle telegraph office requiring or requesting that all the railroad employees, be vaccinated. Some of the employes, do not take very kindly to the request and one stated today that he would give up his position rather than accede to it. The prevalence of smallpox in Columbus, and at other points along the line has caused the company to take the step.

The corporation of the Methodist Episcopal Home for the Aged of Ohio, whose home at Yellow Springs was recently destroyed, has decided to locate the new home south of College Hill, Cincinnati. The plans have all been prepared and the building will be commenced immediately.

Mr. Allen ,the carpenter of N. King street, and Mr. Dode Knisley of Spring Hill, have formed a partnership and are already preparing for a busy summer, as there promises to be a great deal of building.

Perhaps one of the oldest military bands in the United States met at Burkholder Post, No. 115 G. A. R. at Yellow Springs, yesterday to have their photographs taken. The members of the band have lived in that place since the war and retain the same instruments used 41 years ago, while members of the 16th O. N. G. They are Dr. William Haffner, bass drum; A. F. Hopkins, snare drum, and fifer, and T. B. Jobe, fifer and bugler.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

If you want to waste a lot of money, there are a most amazing number of things to waste it on, all going under the name of beauty aids.

When I was first in Paris, I saw exquisite boxes in beauty shop windows labelled "cils," 'cil" I knew meant eye lash; but who kept eyelashes in a box? I went in one place and asked to see them, amused and ashamed of my ignorance. And sure enough, each box contained a most beautiful pair of eyelashes, black, brown, any shade you fancied—long, thick, made of real hair, I was assured, threaded on a colorless hair, ready to be attached to any pair of eyes in need of beautifying! One could have them at ten francs and up, and a mucilage came for attaching, which kept them on all day but allowed them to be washed loose with warm water, so they could be put away—more or less like false teeth!—for the night.

Of course the owner of such sweeping lashes couldn't weep, for if she indulged in sorrow, she would weep her eyelashes out, if not her eyes. Later I saw these rather odd inventions in London and New York, and I hear that they are sold in many other places. You'll wonder what they looked like. Well, they looked like what they were, fake eyelashes. For a real lash tapers imperceptibly towards its ends, the color gradually fading out, these were stiff and brittle, and blunt at the tips, and far too coarse. No amount of ingenuity could make them seem real.

What an odd creature a woman can make of herself—with a transparent complexion done with violet powder, or a romantic pallor done with green, with hair dyed or bleached any exotic shade, false eyelashes, eyes cut to make them larger, figure moulded and padded—but why go on with the list?

Mary B.—If you weaned the baby too suddenly or if you used anything to dry up the breasts it would make them flat and flabby as you describe. With proper care the bust should be as good looking before as after childbirth. As you seem to be too thin all over I think that if you take olive oil and rich milk and other things to make you fat you will notice a quick improvement in the bust. Do not wear any sort of brassiere at night, and during the day, not a tight one as you do now, but one snug enough to support the bust without confining it. Massage this part daily with warm cocoa butter followed by an ice rub or cold water rinse.

Mrs. B.—I would not advise the steady use of vanishing cream on the face as it is apt to clog the pores. For wrinkles I would advise a really nourishing face cream, one made with olive or almond oil.

J. S.—See a doctor at once about the inflamed eyes. Styes come from a poor condition of the blood and should really be treated medically.

THE PROCESSION.

Forty million cars go by, burning up the gasoline; long I watch them as they fly, flivver, bus and limousine; day and night they sweep along, all their engines going strong, blowing horn or sounding gong, autos yellow, black and green. Jabez Jimpson bought my pup, and the bill long since was due; now I see him hitting up fifty miles or fifty-two; he must know I need the cash, for my children cry for hash; but he drives as though he'd smash all the records—hear him choo! There goes Japhet Jingo Jones; seven months have gone their way since he borrowed fifteen bones, which he would return next day; fifteen bucks I sorely need; they would save my life, indeed; but this Jones is showing speed, with a jaunty hip-hooray. Here comes Peter Tinkle now, scorching 'neath the silver moon, and he owes me for the cow that he bought the 10th of June; little, little does he care that I have no shirts to wear, that my granny's feet are bare, as he chants his joyous tune. Down the vales and up the hills I can hear the motors clink; if the owners paid their bills, how the long parade wouldl shrink. Autos yellow, green and red would be standing, cold and dead, in some gloomy auction shed, quicker than the eye can wink.

Today's Talk

AGE AND BEAUTY

I have a lovely specimen of crystal—natural quartz. As I look at it, I am reminded that its beauty is the result of age.

There is nothing spontaneous about the origin of crystal.

I think of a group of friends that have become more wonderful to me with the accumulating years.

I glance at a choice piece of furniture that they tell me is very old—and rare—and therefore very interesting and unique.

I glance at the bed of live coals in my fireplace.

Little by little they grow less bright until I take the poker and nest them tightly together—and then I go to my bed, telling the warmed memories of the evening how happy they have made me.

I am reminded, however; that nothing else about that evening's fire could quite compare with the beauty of its parting moments.

After an object, or a friend, has been much to us for a long time, when we come to part with either—even though it be for but a short time—it seems as though all the finest in either is pictured strongest to us at that time.

After a long association when the time for parting comes there are qualities in our friend that loom before our eyes as never before.

For the years ripen and enrich!

Each day each one of us adds or takes away from the sum total of real beauty worth in this world. We are the very unite of beauty and we grow as we learn more and more to appreciate beauty.

One of the secrets of a happy life is to trot along with your years—not to be dragged along by them.

PREPARE FOR OCEAN RATE WAR

Washington, Feb. 3.—Should British passenger lines in the north Atlantic service start the rate war which some have predicted as soon as the Leviathan is put on the New York-Southapton-Cherbourg run, they will find the American lines well prepared. The $50,000,000 appropriation for the shipping board, it was said, placed the United States lines in a position to meet any competition, at least until July, 1924.

INFLUENZA FROM NEGLECTED COLDS.

Stop your coughs and colds before they become serious. If neglected they will lead to influenza, la grippe, asthma and bronchitis. Three generations of users have testified to the quick relief given by Foley's Honey and tar from coughs, colds, croups throat, chest and bronchial trouble. REMARKS MADE IN SENATE HELD OBJECTIONABLE

Washington, Feb. 3.—Statements made by Senator Heflin during discussion of the British debt funding arrangement were expunged from the record after heated debate.

The controversy ended with Senator Heflin being reproved a second time for use of improper language and with remarks by Senator Couzens, the new Republican member from Michigan, also being declared objectionable and ordered expunged from the record.

By a vote of 40 to 28, the senate first decided that Senator Heflin had violated the rules by referring to Senator Wadsworth in discussion of British debt funding as a representative of the "bond sharks and big financiers of Wall street."

Senator Heflin's second offense developed during his criticism of Senator Couzens' vote against him in the Wadsworth matter, when he referred to the Michigan senator as a millionaire representative of big business interests. In the same vote the senate also expunged statements by Senator Couzens that Senator Heflin was "playing to the galleries" and had "sneaked out in the night time" to change the record of his clash with Senator Wadsworth.

Solon Accuses Harding.

A violation of the budget law by President Harding through his failure to recommend to congress the means of wiping out the prospective deficit in government finances this year was charged in the house by Representative Garner, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee.

Mr. Garner was opposing an amendment to the liberty loan acts, under which the sinking fund could be used in retiring government securities other than liberty bonds and victory notes. He charged that the purpose was to use the sinking fund in the daily operations of the government so that the anticipated deficit of $270,000,000 for this fiscal year might not show on the treasury books.

"The Republican party, from the president down," said Mr. Garner, "wants to show to the American people that there is no deficit, but if the sinking fund is used to retire $300,000,000 in liberty bonds in May, as the present law requires, the deficit will be there."

Defending treasury administration of the sinking fund law, Representative Treadway declared Mr. Garner was not accurately informed as to the facts. He asserted that the records showed that the treasury already had used $40,000,000 of the $300,000,000 fund for this fiscal year for the retirement of liberty bonds.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN GLASS WORKERS AND MAKERS IS UNLAWFUL

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—A permanent injunction was issued here restraining members of the national organization of window glass manufacturers and national window glass workers from continuing their wage agreement after March 1.

The order was issued by Judge D. C. Westenhaver of the federal district court. He also ordered the abolishment of the two-period plan in operation in hand-blown glass factories of the country.

Several thousand workers and 56 plants producing hand-blown window glass in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Ohio are affected.

The ruling held that the two-period plan, under which half of the plants are idle while the other half are in operation, violates the Sherman anti-trust law, in that it curtails production and boosts prices.

The opinion also points out that the workers, who were a party to the wage scale agreements, had twice in polls of their membership voted against the two-period system.

HAIR-SPLITTERS BUSY AS PAPERS OF FESS UNSIGNED

Washington, Feb. 3.—Something of a flurry was created here when it was discovered that the certificate of election of Dr. Simeon D. Fess to the U. S. Senate bears no date. Officials of the Senate took the position that this is a serious oversight and that the certificate as it now stands cannot be accepted.

It had been the intention of Senator Willis to present the certificate to the senate this week and obtain its acceptance so that Dr. Fess could begin to draw senatorial pay March 4.

It will be necessary to send the certificate back to Columbus and the hairsplitters are divided over the question as to whether Governor Donahey can legally write into the certificate the date, since his precedessor signed the certificate. Again the question has arisen as to whether ex-Governor Davis being out of office can write in the date. Another question is whether if the certificate is not accepted before the Congress adjourns March 4 Dr. Fess can begin to draw pay before next December, when the next Congress will begin.

The whole matter presents a puzzling enigma to the officials here to deal with. Possibly the outcome will be that Governor Donahey will issue an entirely new certificate signed and certified to by himself, though it has not exactly been determined here he has the legal right to do this.

SPORTS

CENTRAL HIGH FIVE LOSES AGAIN TO OLD

N. C. R. TIGERS TO CLAW FAMOUS AUTOS HERE TUESDAY

RIVALS 39 TO 23—PIQUA IN BAD SHAPE

Central High Defeated

By practically the same margin of points by which they were defeated by McClain High of Greenfield last year, the Central High basketball team dropped another game at Greenfield Friday night, the score being 39 to 23. Last year's score was 37 to 22.

Xenia was again handicapped by inability to connect consistently with the baskets, missing many shots. Captain Armstrong and Mossbarger at the forwards, furnished most of the difficulty for the Xenia pastimers who were unable to stop these lads. The lineup and summary:

Xenia—23		Greenfield—39
Woolary	L F	Mossbarger
LeSourd	R F	Armstrong (c)
Schwab	C	Stephenson
Smith	L G	Edmonson
D. Currie (c)	R G	Harps

Substitutions: Xenia—Leopard for Schwab; Muterspaw for Smith, Schwab for Leopard, Smith for Muterspaw, Muterspaw for LeSourd. Field Goals: LeSourd 2, Woolary 1, Schwab 2, Currie 3, Armstrong 6, Mossbarger 7, Stephenson 3. Foul Goals: LeSourd 6 out of 10, Woolary 1 out of 1; Armstrong, 5 out of 13; Mossbarger 0 out of 2, Stephenson 2 out of 3. Referee: Earl Prugh, Wesleyan.

Autos in Action Tuesday

In spite of the mediocre support so far, the Famous Autos basketball team, still determined to see that court fans here get the best in the way of basketball exhibitions, will furnish another interesting game next Tuesday, meeting the N. C. R. Tigers, leaders of the N. C. R. factory loop in Dayton.

The Tigers claim the right to step out in the class the Famous Autos represent by consecutively leading the loop of N. C. R. teams, which are made up of some of the best talent in Dayton. The Tigers are so well out in front they want to step out in faster company and they will get their wish when they stack up against the locals next week.

In the Famous Autos aggregation Xenia is represented by one of the best independent teams in its history. Manager George Haller is sparing no expense to see that the cream of Dayton court talent is skimmed to make up the personnel of the local aggregation every week, and the Autos are making such an active bid for popularity, that they deserve support. Mark, Barlow, Koester, Koehly, Solimano and Solowitz will compose the team again next Tuesday.

Two interesting preliminaries have also been arranged. The Famous five now much strengthened will get into action in the semi-windup with the South Side Merchants in what promises to be an interesting battle. The Famous outfit has had enough defeats for the season and with a greatly strengthened lineup, hope to step into the win column for a while, exhibted by their defeat of the L. E. John Emeralds last week. The new lineup is composed of Barnett, Owens, Muterspaw, Derrick, Curlett, Day Herry and Jacoby and these lads are bound to make themselves heard from the city loop.

In the preliminary, the Prostolite Girls, champions of this section of the state and the Ohio Bells of Dayton will engage. These teams play under boys' rules and furnish quite a different exhibition from the usual girls' games.

HOME BACK IN ACTION.

After an absence of two weeks from the court the O. S. and S. O. Home Cadets will get into action again Saturday night, when they take on the speedy Dayton Wolverines, a classy 145 pound team.

From advance dope the Gem City combination has been making all the teams of its weight step lively, while on the other hand after long lay off that the locals have had they are in the pink of condition and are promising the fans a win. Anyway the game should be a nip and tuck affair and those who journey to the Home Armory will see a lively tussle. The game will be called at 7:30 sharp with Schultz in charge.

PIQUA IS HANDICAPPED.

Piqua High School basketball team which met and defeated the Xenia Central High five here last week, might be much easier to get along with this week. Four of the athletes have been ruled off the team because of scholastic difficulties and the Piquads are having trouble putting a winning team on the floor.

GIRLS TEAM WINS.

Cedarville College girls basketball team defeated the Springfield Y. M. C. A. Industrial girls team at Springfield Friday night 14 to 12. The game was close and well played each team being in the lead at several times, and the outcome being in doubt until the end of the pastiming.

BOXERS ARE HIT

New York, Feb. 3.—Jack Dempsey's chances of defending his heavyweight title this year, at least in New York state, were reduced to a minimum as a result of the decision of William Muldoon, chairman of the state athletic commission, not to permit contests with the two men regarded as leading challengers, Harry Wills, negro, and Jess Willard. Excessive financial demands by Dempsey's manager Kearns, and alleged commercialistic methods by promoters seeking to stage one or both of the bouts, Mr. Muldoon declared, prompted his attitude. Staging of a Dempsey-Wills or Dempsey-Willard bout in New York state, he said, would be detrimental to the boxing game.

DAVIS URGES PLAN LIMITING TERM OF GOVERNOR OF OHIO

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—A four-year term for governor is advocated by former Governor Hary L. Davis, who issued a statement today to the people of Ohio. He would abandon the present two-year plan and replace it with a four-year tenure, limited to a single term. Davis says under the present plan, with a state election each two years and the incumbent governor seeking re-election, the state is not only deprived of the chief executive's time and guiding hand, but the machinery of government passes through a period of interruption that does not contribute to efficiency. He added:

"I have preferred to wait until after expiration of my term as governor before launching a direct movement for a constitutional amendment as outlined so the action might not be misunderstood as due to a wish to benefit by it myself. Now that I am out of office, my desire to be of continuing public service as a private citizen has further induced me to start this movement under way."

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED.

Lorain, O., Feb. 3.—Stella Chapman, 19, was instantly killed, and Lawrence Nocum, 40, was seriously injured, when a New York Central train crashed into an automobile driven by Nocum as they were passing a crossing in Vermillion, eight miles west of here.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

Gregg to the students at chapel and spoke of the work in colleges in Ohio. In the evening he addressed the members and friends of the Y. M. C. A. and spoke of his trip to Europe and of conditions as they exist in the cities of France and Germany.

RECALL PROPOSAL AFFECTS OFFICIALS

Columbus, Feb. 3.—Representative Kasch of Akron offered a resolution in the house proposing submission of a constitutional amendment for recall of all state elective officials. Should the amendment be submitted and be approved by the voters, the recall of a governor or any other state elective official, including members of the legislature, could be effected upon filing of a petition setting forth charges against the official or officials, signed by 25 per cent of the voters who cast their ballots for governor at the last preceding general election.

With the recall petition, the secretary of state would also be required to place on the special election ballot the names of candidates for the office during the unexpired term yet remaining. In case the incumbent would be recalled, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes would serve out the unexpired term.

MONDAY—RICHARD BARTHELMESS IN "THE BOND BOY"

Styles BY LENORE

An extremely likable frock is this of brown rep, which takes for the upper half of its cleverly designed bodice a lustrous crepe in the same color. The flaring sleeves are simpler than sleeves have been for several months, but there is a never-failing grace in this simple flare effect. The waistline is slightly below the normal.

This is an excellent foundation for remodeling an old frock, if you are one of those accomplished people who have a knack for that sort of thing, or if you are lucky enough to enjoy the services of a seamstress whose work is dependable.

And, if you have a fancy for the picturesque effects to be obtained from the brilliantly patterned silks which are adding so much color to the world these days, you will find this a practical model in which to try out the idea. If you weary of the bright colors, or fear that your friends might, plain silk may be easily substituted.

Cincinnati, Feb. 3.—Judge John W. Peck received a letter from President Harding officially notifying him that his resignation as judge of the United States district court for the southern district of Ohio to become effective April 3 had been accepted.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

UNION COMMUNITY CLUB PRESENTS A COMMENDABLE PLAY

The presentation of "Deacon Dubbs" by an amateur cast from the Union Community Club delighted a large audience at the Union School house auditorium Friday evening.

The roles were all splendidly taken and the play was put over in a style that would have done credit to a professional company. The play, which was a three act comedy abounded in amusing situations which were cleverly presented. The first act had as its setting a country auction, the second act a country wedding and the third a husking bee. The stage settings were attractive and the costumes well planned.

The ability shown by the amateur actors made the performance especially enjoyable, all filling their roles with a zest and naturalness that was very pleasing. Ray Ledbetter as "Deacon Dubbs" and Harry Robinson in an Irish role proved star actors although the other members of the cast all came in for a full share of the honors.

Between acts Virginia Watkins, who is a child soloist of more than ordinary ability, gave several numbers and Mrs. John Watkins, at the piano, and served as accompanist throughout the play, gave several piano solos. A pianologue by Mrs. Carl Babb was also an enjoyable feature of the numbers between acts.

The entire performance was highly creditalbe throughout and the members of the cast and their assistants are being heartily congratulated on its success.

SON-IN-LAW HELD.

Middletown, O., Feb. 3.—Homer Hardis, 31, is being held by police in connection with the death of his father-in-law, William Sears, 68, following an alleged attack. Mrs. Sears, widow of the victim, is reported in a critical condition, a victim of heart disease, as a result of the affair.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. Robinson Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amarillo, Texas.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache so that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years; then a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."—Mrs. C. B. ROBINSON, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Tex.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful times, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

PLEADS GUILTY AND FINED ON CHARGE FOLLOWING RAID

Clarence Wakely, Spring Valley, was fined $700 and costs, when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate J. D. Jones, Friday afternoon to charge of possessing implements for the manufacture of liquor.

Wakeley, were arrested by a raiding party led by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, and a still and 200 gallons of mash were confiscated by the raiding officers. William Wakeley entered a plea of not guilty and will have his hearing in Magistrate Jones' Court, next Friday at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the raiding party included dry agents from the office of B. F. McDonald, state prohibition enforcement officer, Columbus, and operatives of Zoll's Secret Service Agency, Springfield, who have been working up liquor cases in the county through arrangements with Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson. They also took part in the raid conducted by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy George Spencer Friday when John Monnett, Yellow Springs, was arrested and later fined.

SMALL AUDIENCE GREETS MINSTRELS

The minstrel first part was an especially pleasing part of the program for the old-fashioned black-face art and singing was carried through with dash and speed that never permitted lagging. The solos were well received and the chorus work was good.

The second part offered a number of novelty acts and comedy numbers, the best of which was the closing skit, with its lively comedy situations. The minstrel troupe played here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

ZIMMERMAN

There was an all day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, at the church, Wednesday, 22 ladies being present.

Much interest is being shown in the revival at this place. Rev. Haines preaches some very forceful sermons. To date, there have been 22 additions to the church.

Mrs. Homer Koogler has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis.

The Studenbaker sedan, belonging to I. M. Coy, and driven by his son, was badly wrecked at Zimmerman, Thursday evening, when it collided with another machine going east on the Xenia pike. The Coy machine was backing away from the gasoline station, when the collision occurred, which damaged both machines, but no one was hurt seriously.

The clever and economical housewife familiarizes herself with the various methods of clothes-renovation, so that she can avoid bills for dry-cleaning.

I have on my desk six letters from Reader Friends, each letter asking for advice on renovating either woolen, goods, silks or velvets. I will take up these three materials separately:

TO CLEAN WOOLEN GOODS: Gasoline, benzine or naptha are excellent for cleaning woolen goods. As these fluids are highly inflammable they should not be used near heat and flame. Ordinary spots, from grease or dust, can be removed by dipping a cloth in the gasoline and rubbing this on the spot. But there are many housewives who do not use gasoline; they think there is nothing better than the simple old-fashioned method of washing woolen goods in warm water and soapbark. To do this, get ten cents' worth of soapbark from your druggist and pour over it two quarts of boiling water. Let this stand until the strength is taken from the bark, then strain, and pour into a tub of lukewarm water. Let the material stand for one-half hour in the suds, then rub well and rinse in another water of the same temperature (to keep the goods from shrinking.) Press on the wrong side before thoroughly dry. You should always experiment first with a small piece of the material to be sure that it does not change color or shrink badly, under this treatment. If you find it does, then use the gasoline treatment. A badly soiled wool garment may be immersed in a gallon or two of gasoline, dipped up and down in it to loosen the dirt, then rinsed in clean gasoline and hung on the line until the odor has completely evaporated.

FOR SILKS: Mix six ounces of strained honey and four ounces of a pure white soap with one pint of good alcohol. Lay each piece of silk flat on a table and, with a brush, cover the silk with the mixture, first on one side and then on the other. Brush as little as possible and always straight up and down. Dip the silk in several tepid rinsing-waters, the last one mixed with a little honey. Do not wring the silk. Simply hang it up and, when half-dry iron with a cool iron on the wrong side.

VELVETS are cleaned by steaming. First brush it well to remove dust. Then put a hot iron in a box, wedged up-side down, and cover the face of the hot iron with a good-sized piece of wet muslin. This produces steam. Move the muslin along as it dries on the iron. Hold the velvet with its wrong side against the muslin and brush it carefully with a soft brush until the pile is raised—brushing against the nap. Another way to steam velvet is to hold it tightly over a pan of boiling water.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 95.

The studio door was ajar and I heard voices. Quietly I pushed the door a bit further open, so that I might hear. There might be someone there I wouldn't care to meet.

To my surprise I heard Grace Harter's husky voice ,saying:

"What in the world ails you, Walt? You are as nervous as a witch, and cross as the dickens. What has happened to disturb your lordship? I thought everything was going famously. People went wild over that portrait of Miss Vernon and the one of Doreen and Jack. You are hard to please, evidently. I dropped in expecting to find you all 'sot up' with pride."

Breathlessly I listened for Walter's answer. No thought of shame at listening came to me, I was beyond any feeling of that kind.

"I am terribly out of sorts, Grace. But I didn't mean to take it out on you—yes, the portraits went great; I've several commissions as a result."

"Then, what is it? A new flirtation that isn't going to suit you?"

"Stop your kidding, Grace. You know well enough my 'flirtations' as you call them, are harmless; that i can't help raving over a beautiful woman. Probably will when I am 90, if I live to be so old."

"I believe you But come, fess up, what is the matter?"

"I'm as lonesome as the very devil! I can't stand it without Doreen. I have written a dozen telegrams for other is something my system isn't her to come home, then torn them up. She's so unselfish. I felt ashamed to ask her to come back, to shorten her visit ,but Gad, how I miss her!"

"You surprise me, Walter. I have thought many times you were almost indifferent to Doreen—I think she has—"

"Indifferent to Doreen! Why she's the only woman I ever cared a whoop for. If she doesn't come in a day or two I shall go fetch her, and—"

"What's that? Who are you going to fetch?" I said my heart thumping wildly for pure happiness. I had come prepared to give Walter up, only to hear that he loved me, had missed me; was unhappy without me.

"You, you rouge!" Walter's arms were around me, and I was sobbing on his breast.

"I never was so happy in all my life—never!" I exclaimed. Then catching a knowing look in Grace's eyes, that showed she suspected I had heard them talking, I added: "I had a lovely time, and father and mother did everything for me, as well as spoiling Jack. But there's no place like home—when home means you, Walter."

"I guess I'd better go. Married people going into rhapsodies over each accustomed to," Grace said dryly.

"Don't go, Grace. I remember when you and I thought we cared for each other. Puppy love is a queer thing. I took it out on you, I guess so that when Doreen came along I could give her the real thing."

I laughed joyously.

"Do, stay, Grace. Go home with us to dinner. We'll telephone George."

"No, thank you! I think I know my business too well to butt in on 'newly weds.' "

I went to the door with her, and she whispered:

"Best thing you ever did, going away and letting Walt miss you. He's been confiding in me, and I don't think you need worry ever again—but don't expect him to be a saint; he won't!" and the woman I had so disliked, had been jealous of, and who had proved the best friend I ever had, leaned over and kissed me.

For an hour Walter and I talked. He showed me more of his real self, his feeling for me in that hour than I had seen in the years we had lived together.

"I was becoming unbearable, Doreen," he said, with a shammed sort of a laugh. "I was like a small boy crying for his mother. The Mater has been fine, so has Grace and everybody, but they aren't you! I don't think I shall ever let you go for so long again. Why didn't you wire me so I could meet you?"

"I wanted to surprise you?" I replied, thinking how I had been surprised; trembling with the reaction.

"You did it all right I expect Grace thinks we are a couple of sillies crying in each others arms."

"I don't care what anybody thinks—about anything!" I replied happily.

DRIVE TO MAKE GREENE COUNTY GREEN STARTS SOON

VALUE OF ALFALFA CROP WILL BE EMPHASIZED IN SERIES OF MEETINGS THROUGH NEXT WEEK

Launching the campaign to "make Greene County Green" County Agent Ford S. Prince, assisted by various committeemen, has arranged a series of meetings to be held over the county from February 5 to 10, when outside speakers, will be present to give interesting addresses upon the value of alfalfa as a crop, the meetings to be featured by free motion pictures, and "pep" programs.

Farmers of the county in whose community the various meetings will be staged are asked to bring their soil to these meetings for test to see whether they need lime. Ross, Silvercreek and Jefferson townships have been purposely left off the list of meetings since alfalfa has not been successful in these communities. Special meetings will be held for these townships later.

Here is the schedule for the meetings:

February 5, 7:30 p. m. Beavercreek Township H. S.

February 6, 1:30 p. m. Caesarcreek. Lodge Hall, Paintersville.

February 6, 7:30 p. m. Bath Township H. S.

February 7, 1:30 p. m. Miami Township, Farm Bureau Hall.

February 7, 7:30 p. m. Xenia Township, Court House.

February 8, 1:30 p. m. New Jasper Township. Church Basement.

February 8, 7:30 p. m. Sugarcreek Township, Township House

February 9, 1:30 p. m., Cedarville Township, Murdock Theater.

February 9, 7:30 p. m., Spring Valley, Town Hall.

Outside Speakers Secured

Outside speakers for the alfalfa campaign include M. Frank Morgan, Extension Specialist in Soils, Ohio State University; and Harry M. Brandon, Limestone Specialist, of the Ohio Marble Company.

Mr. Morgan will discuss the following topics at the meeting:

1—What type of soil is best adapted to alfalfa?

2—Is good drainage essential?

3—Will alfalfa thrive on an acid soil?

4—How can the need of limestone be determined

5—What are the fertilizer requirements of alfalfa?

6—How can the soil be inoculated for alfalfa?

7—What is the best way to prepare the land for alfalfa?

8—How much seed is required?

9—What are some of the best ways to obtain a stand?

10—Does alfalfa fit into a rotation with other crops

11—What are the advantages and disadvantages of "summer following?"

12—What are the advantages and disadvantages of growing with "nurse crop?"

13—How long can a stand of alfalfa be maintained?

14—What can be done to rejuvenate an alfalfa sod?

15—What is the best time to plow under an alfalfa sod?

16—How much plant food material is removed from the soil?

17—How much nitrogen is taken from the air and fixed in the soil by the bacteria in the nodules of the roots?

18—What is the effect of the soil of the root growth of alfalfa?

19—Does alfalfa obtain any good material from the sub-soil?

Mr. Brandon will discuss the preparation and use of the ground limestone on soils. County Agent Ford Prince will probably talk on harvesting and feeding alfalfa. Farmers who have grown alfalfa are urged to attend the meetings, and give in their experiences in growing, harvesting and feeding alfalfa.

PLACE FOR ALFALFA AS FEED ON EVERY FARM IS STATEMENT OF CO. AGENT

"Why should the Greene County Farm Bureau stage a campaign to increase the acreage of alfalfa within the confines of the county" County Agent Ford S. Prince was asked in connection with the alfalfa campaign being staged in the county, Feb. 5 to 10.

His reply was: "The reasons are many. Quite a number of Greene County farmers will attempt to grow alfalfa for the first time in 1923 regardless of the campaign. To insure their success is one big reason why it is important to bring the facts about alfalfa raising before them.

"Alfalfa is the most exacting crop that we produce. Drainage must be good, the soil should have or be supplied with limestone, inoculation bacteria must be provided, and a good seed bed is essential. Leaving out any one of these important factors will cause an alfalfa failure.

"A great many farmers have never fed alfalfa. There is a place for alfalfa as a feed onevery farm As a forage crop it is king of them all. For this reason and to eliminate the necessity of buying so much feed this campaign has been prepared.

"Alfalfa is the supreme roughage for dairy, beef cattle or sheep, is relished by hogs, is escpecially good for brood sows, is a fine feed for chickens, and can be fed to horses with excellent results.

"Its analysis is similar to wheat bran for which we pay high prices and it is so much richer as a feed than any other hay crop we feed that there is scarcely any comparison between them. To the men who have never fed any alfalfa, we can recommend it most highly.

"It is also the most productive hay crop we can grow. Three cuttings with an average yield per acre of from three to six tons per year are always produced. Alfalfa hay is selling at twenty dollars per ton today in Greene County. As a money crop therefore, it is in advance of any of our grain crops at present.

"A field of alfalfa will supply as much feed as two or three times that acreage of other hay. Cut the alfalfa, pasture or plow down the clover, build up the soil and raise better yields of grain at lower cost. The cost of producing grain crops is in inverse proportion to the yield. Alfalfa will help cut the cost."

Executive Committee Meets

A meeting of the members of the Executive Committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau will be held in the Farm Bureau office, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

FARMERS ENDORSE MOVE TO INCREASE ALFALFA

Proving the value of alfalfa as a crop, and the possibility of a larger acreage for it in Greene County, two farmers of the county have given their opinion of their experience with alfalfa. Joe Smith of Spring Valley Township put in three and one-half acres in 1921 and cut 21 loads of alfalfa hay in 1922. He is enthusiastic about the crop and is going to double his acreage in 1923.

E. J. Ferguson, of Beavercreek township, grows so much alfalfa he has to stack most of it out in the field. He feeds all he can of it, bales up the rest and sends it to market.

"Nothing like it," "Wouldn't be without it," "Yes, it is a nuisance when it has to be cut, but it is the most profiitable crop I grow," are expressions of Greene County farmers concerning alfalfa.

"Greene County is essentially a livestock county, and to put bloom on livestock, and to make milk or meat there is no hay feed like alfalfa. Yet, there is only one acre of alfalfa on the average for every farmer in Greene County. Let us double that in 1923,' said County Agent Prince.

MOVIES WILL BE USED AT ALFALFA MEETINGS

For entertainment and instruction at alfalfa meetings February 5 to 10 several reels of moving picture films have been secured, according to County Agent Prince. The Farm Bureau has also secured from the International Harvester Company a set of 50 picture slides entitled "Alfalfa on Every Farm."

These pictures, together with the speakers and the general widespread interest in alfalfa and other legume crops, promise to give the people of the various townships a real treat.

MANY SOILS NEED TO BE TESTED SAYS CO. AGENT

"We have found some soils in Greene County sour enough to set a pig's teeth on edge to walk over it," said County Agent Ford S. Prince, this week, speaking of the value of soil testing, to be held in connection with the alfalfa campaign.

All farmers of the county are urged to have their soil tested at the meetings to be held Feb. 5 and 10, in order to learn whether their soil needs lime, and how much it needs.

A half pint sample is sufficient for a test, all samples to be secured a few days before the meeting in each township. The dirt should be allowed to dry in a warm room but not heated on the stove or oven.

Personal

Te entire family of Adam S. Huff who reside on the Edwin Dean farm of the Clifton pike have been ill of grip.

James, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Huff, suffered a dislocated ankle and minor bruises when his clothing was caught on the crank shaft of a gasoline engine at his home Friday.

CORN AND GRAIN SHOW AT BEAVERCREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE SUCCESSFUL; PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Featured by a corn and grain show that was judged to be one of the best ever held in this part of the state, splendid work upon the part of the boys and girls of the community and large crowds the Farmers' Institute held at Beavercreek, Friday and Saurday, was a decided success. Officers of the Institute, are being complimented for the excellent program, and the success with which the entire Institute was carried out. A particularly pleasing feature of the program were the parts taken by pupils of the Beavercreek High School, who furnished a large part of the program the first day splendid local talent being offered.

The outstanding address of the Friday program was that of H. P. Miller, Sunbury, on "A Program for Organized Agriculture," a talk of particular interest to farmers, many worthwhile points being given by the speaker. Mrs. Velorus Martz, of Columbus, gave an address during the evening session on "A Community Experience" and was well received by her audience. Mrs. Miller's evening address concerned "Science and Practice in Feeding."

Saturday's program consisted of two sessions "Woman's Work" being the subject of Mrs. Martz' morning address, Mr. Miller speaking in the afternoon on "Principles and Methods of Livestock Improvement." Short talks on topics of farm interest, discussions and musical selections were the remaining features of the program.

The success of the corn and grain show has been given to Fred R. Keeler, Smith Hughes teacher at Beavercreek high school, and to the boys of the agricultural department of that school. One hundred and thirty exhibits were shown at the show, every one being of outstanding merit, and high rating, as judged by W. M. Hardman.

GREENE CO. FARMER WINS LAURELS AT CORN SHOW

A. B. Lewis of Bowersville won first prize in the state corn and grain show during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University, this week, with his corn exhibit. The contest was held among the men who had made the 100 bushel corn club. Mr. Lewis having made that club in 1919, with a yield of 105.2 bushels to the acre. The corn exhibited at the state show was the same variety with which Mr. Lewis made the club, Reid's Yellow Dent.

The exhibit was made up of bushels of selected ears, 14 out of 49 who made the club exhibiting at the show, which was one of the finest ever held in the state. Mr. Lewis won a prize of a steel corn crib.

PLEADS GUILTY AND FINED ON CHARGE FOLLOWING RAID

Clarence Wakely, Spring Valley, was fined $700 and costs, when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate J. B. Jones, Friday afternoon to charge of possessing implements for the manufacture of liquor.

Wakeley, were arrested by a raiding party led by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, and a still and 200 gallons of mash were confiscated by the raiding officers. William Wakeley entered a plea of not guilty and will have his hearing in Magistrate Jones' Court, next Friday at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the raiding party included dry agents from the office of B. F. McDonald, state prohibition enforcement officer, Columbus, and operatives of Zoll's Secret Service Agency, Springfield, who have been working up liquor cases in the county through arrangements with Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson. They also took part in the raid conducted by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy George Spencer Friday when John Monnett, Yellow Springs, was arrested and later fined.

MRS. SARAH KERSEY DIES SATURDAY

Mrs. Sarah Ann Hersey, 65, died at her home on Hudson Avenue, Saturday morning at 1:35 o'clock. Her death was due to heart trouble.

Surviving are two sons, Jerry and James and two daughters, Mrs. Amanda Fox and Mrs. Ida Pleukharp, all of Xenia. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Monday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of the Rev. Frank Watkin, pastor of the Nazarene Church and burial will be made in Woodland.

McClellan Neighborhood

Lee Hutchison of Lower Bellbrook pike, is suffering with grip. Mrs. Hutchison is recovering from a mild attack of the malady.

The McPherson Community Club spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Eaton. A pleasant social time was enjoyed and an elaborate refreshment course was served by the scoial committee. Mr. Van Eaton will have a public sale Feb 26 but has not fully decided where he will locate.

The Harper farm has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Grant of the Burlington pike, they will move March 1.

Mrs. James Hollingshead of Lower Bellbrook pike is quite ill, suffering from an attack of grip. Miss Rosalie Hollingshead who is teaching in Cincinnati schools is also on sick list with congestion of the lungs.

Miss Rozella Horner, student at Ohio Wesleyan University is spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harner of the Upper Bellbrook pike.

J. S. Van Eaton was in Columbus two days, attending sessions of Farmers Week.

SMALL AUDIENCE GREETS MINSTRELS

The minstrel first part was an especially pleasing part of the program for the old-fashioned black-face art and singing was carried through with dash and speed that never permitted lagging. The solos were well received and the chorus work was good.

The second part offered a number of novelty acts and comedy numbers, the best of which was the closing skit, with its lively comedy situations. The minstrel troupe played here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

ZIMMERMAN

There was an all day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, at the church, Wednesday, 22 ladies being present.

Much interest is being shown in the revival at this place. Rev. Haines preaches some very forceful sermons. To date, there have been 22 additions to the church.

Mrs. Homer Koogler has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis.

The Studenbaker sedan, belonging to I. M. Coy, and driven by his son, was badly wrecked at Zimmerman, Thursday evening, when it collided with another machine going east on the Xenia pike. The Coy machine was backing away from the gasoline station, when the collision occurred, which damaged both machines, but no one was hurt seriously.

The clever and economical housewife familiarizes herself with the various methods of clothes-renovation, so that she can avoid bills for dry-cleaning.

I have on my desk six letters from Reader Friends, each letter asking for advice on renovating either woolen, goods, silks or velvets. I will take up these three materials separately:

TO CLEAN WOOLEN GOODS: Gasoline, benzine or naptha are excellent for cleaning woolen goods. As these fluids are highly inflammable they should not be used near heat and flame. Ordinary spots, from grease or dust, can be removed by dipping a cloth in the gasoline and rubbing this on the spot. But there are many housewives who do not use gasoline; they think there is nothing better than the simple old-fashioned method of washing woolen goods in warm water and soapbark. To do this, get ten cents' worth of soapbark from your druggist and pour over it two quarts of boiling water. Let this stand until the strength is taken from the bark, then strain, and pour into a tub of lukewarm water. Let the material stand for one-half hour in the suds, then rub well and rinse in another water of the same temperature (to keep the goods from shrinking.) Press on the wrong side before thoroughly dry. You should always experiment first with a small piece of the material to be sure that it does not change color or shrink badly, under this treatment. If you find it does, then use the gasoline treatment. A badly soiled wool garment may be immersed in a gallon or two of gasoline, dipped up and down in it to loosen the dirt, then rinsed in clean gasoline and hung on the line until the odor has completely evaporated.

FOR SILKS: Mix six ounces of strained honey and four ounces of a pure white soap with one pint of good alcohol. Lay each piece of silk flat on a table and, with a brush, cover the silk with the mixture, first on one side and then on the other. Brush as little as possible and always straight up and down. Dip the silk in several tepid rinsing-waters, the last one mixed with a little honey. Do not wring the silk. Simply hang it up and, when half-dry iron with a cool iron on the wrong side.

VELVETS are cleaned by steaming. First brush it well to remove dust. Then put a hot iron in a box, wedged up-side down, and cover the face of the hot iron with a good-sized piece of wet muslin. This produces steam. Move the muslin along as it dries on the iron. Hold the velvet with its wrong side against the muslin and brush it carefully with a soft brush until the pile is raised—brushing against the nap. Another way to steam velvet is to hold it tightly over a pan of boiling water.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 95.

The studio door was ajar and I heard voices. Quietly I pushed the door a bit further open, so that I might hear. There might be someone there I wouldn't care to meet.

To my surprise I heard Grace Harter's husky voice ,saying:

"What in the world ails you, Walt? You are as nervous as a witch, and cross as the dickens. What has happened to disturb your lordship? I thought everything was going famously. People went wild over that portrait of Miss Vernon and the one of Doreen and Jack. You are hard to please, evidently. I dropped in expecting to find you all 'sot up' with pride."

Breathlessly I listened for Walter's answer. No thought of shame at listening came to me, I was beyond any feeling of that kind.

"I am terribly out of sorts, Grace. But I didn't mean to take it out on you—yes, the portraits went great; I've several commissions as a result."

"Then, what is it? A new flirtation that isn't going to suit you?"

"Stop your kidding, Grace. You know well enough my 'flirtations' as you call them, are harmless; that I can't help raving over a beautiful woman. Probably will when I am 90, if I live to be so old."

"I believe you But come, fess up, what is the matter?"

"I'm as lonesome as the very devil! I can't stand it without Doreen. I have written a dozen telegrams for other is something my system isn't her to come home, then torn them up. She's so unselfish. I felt ashamed to ask her to come back, to shorten her visit ,but Gad, how I miss her!"

"You surprise me, Walter. I have thought many times you were almost indifferent to Doreen—I think she has—"

"Indifferent to Doreen! Why she's the only woman I ever cared a whoop for. If she doesn't come in a day or two I shall go fetch her, and—"

"What's that? Who are you going to fetch?" I said my heart thumping wildly for pure happiness. I had come prepared to give Walter up, only to hear that he loved me, had missed me; was unhappy without me.

"You, you rouge!" Walter's arms were around me, and I was sobbing on his breast.

"I never was so happy in all my life—never!" I exclaimed. Then catching a knowing look in Grace's eyes, that showed she suspected I had heard them talking, I added: "I had a lovely time, and father and mother did everything for me, as well as spoiling Jack. But there's no place like home—when home means you, Walter."

"I guess I'd better go. Married people going into rhapsodies over each accustomed to," Grace said dryly.

"Don't go, Grace. I remember when you and I thought we cared for each other. Puppy love is a queer thing. I took it out on you I guess so that when Doreen came along I could give her the real thing."

I laughed joyously.

"Do, stay, Grace. Go home with us to dinner. We'll telephone George."

"No, thank you! I think I know my business too well to butt in on 'newly weds.' "

I went to the door with her, and she whispered:

"Best thing you ever did, going away and letting Walt miss you. He's been confiding in me, and I don't think you need worry ever again—but don't expect him to be a saint; he won't!" and the woman I had so disliked, had been jealous of, and who had proved the best friend I ever had, leaned over and kissed me.

For an hour Walter and I talked. He showed me more of his real self, his feeling for me in that hour than I had seen in the years we had lived together.

"I was becoming unbearable, Doreen," he said, with a shammed sort of a laugh. "I was like a small boy crying for his mother. The Mater has been fine, so has Grace and everybody, but they aren't you! I don't think I shall ever let you go for so long again. Why didn't you wire me so I could meet you?"

"I wanted to surprise you?" I replied, thinking how I had been surprised; trembling with the reaction.

"You did it all right I expect Grace thinks we are a couple of sillies crying in each others arms."

"I don't care what anybody thinks—about anything!" I replied happily.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My problem is a common one. She is twenty-one. I am twenty-six. We are college sweethearts and engaged. We have been together for years and we have the parents' consent to be engaged.

Shortly after our engagement she allowed a young fellow student to put his arms around her and kiss her and her conscience hurt her so she told me about it. I gradually forgave her that time.

When September came we both went to different parts of the state to teach. Her letters were sometimes very cheerful and made me happy, as I was very true to her and cared more every day that we were apart.

When we were home this Xmas I found out that she had been going with another young fellow where she teaches and had allowed him to caress and love her and had even become quite affectionate with him. When I tried to plead with her to tell me why she did it she scolded me for bringing up the past as she was going to do better now and didn't want to say anything about it. She did not ask me forgiveness this time as before, but only admitted in a joking way some of the things she had done. But she would not sit down and talk it over with me as I wanted her to do.

I am to buy her a ring soon and the problem is, shall I forget and forgive as I have always done with the hope that she will some day be a better girl or must I tell her I cannot give her the ring now as she is not sincere enough to me.

Would I be happy with her if we were married? She did not seem thrilled with our engagement, but still talks about the ring as though that were all she cared about. I sometimes feel she is selfish and does not appreciate what others do for her.

What can I do to make this girl see herself and try to do d... She says that she is going to be a better girl to me now. Will see?

PUZZLED.

There is little chance for happiness with that girl, it seems to me. She is hanging onto you so that if no one she likes better appears in a reasonable length of time and proposes, she will still have a chance to marry.

I would not buy the ring. Tell her that you do not feel as you used to and that before you can consider yourself engaged again she will have to show that she cares for you and no one else. If she sees her mistake and is loyal to you from now on, you would probably be safe in getting her a ring after a year has elapsed.

The girl is very young and finds it difficult to settle down to one man. She should not, however, permit others to make love to her when she is engaged. It is doubtful whether such a woman would be loyal to her husband, if romantic opportunities presented themselves after marriage. Some people are born with a sense of honor in such matters and they would not permit a new attachment before the first is honorably broken off. Others are self-indulgent and care nothing for honor they appear to be all right morally, but when temptation presents itself they fall.

To make the girl "see herself," tell her what you think of her conduct and refuse to be engaged under the circumstances.

* * *

"A Woodsman": Your letter will be regarded as confidential.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What should one say when congratulating a newly married couple?

I THANK YOU.

It is correct to congratulate the man and to wish his wife happiness.

LITTLE HISTORIAL SKETCHES OF GREENE COUNTY

So-called silver-tongued orators who declare that politics is now taking civilization by the hand and leading it to the well-known brink, where it is hovering, has been hovering and will probably continue to hover for some time, might receive a shock in the fact that politics have been played in Greene County ever since its organization back on March 24, 1803.

Politics first entered in the selection of the county seat, which was originally known as the seat of justice. The First General Assembly passed a law by which these so-called seats of justice should be determined upon and established by three commissioners whose duty it was to examine and determine what part of the county was best suited for the county-seat. The act provided that the county-seat selection should be as near the center of the county as possible

Ichabod B. Helsey, Balden Apsby and William McClelland were the commissioners selected to pick Greene County's seat of justice and were to perform the same duty for Montgomery County. In Greene County, it developed, there were many landowners who had visions of being proprietors of the new municipality. Thomas Carneal had laid out a town called Caesarsville on the Paris Peterson farm four miles south of Xenia in 1800 and in a very evident attempt to influence the commissioners, a court house had been built and a public well had been dug, and the town grew rapidly. Over in Pinkney, a small town on the Miami River in Beavercreek Township, the same aspirations were being nourished.

But the people of these villages did not reckon with John Paul, who settled in the county in 1797 and owned considerable land on Beaver creek. It took Lewis Davis, a large landowner, pioneer and public-spirited citizen to convince Paul that his property did not have countyseat qualifications, but that the new seat of justice should be located at the forks of Shawnee run, the spot now occupied by Xenia. Paul was not only ambitious, but far-sighted and quick to act. For the sum of 1,050 pounds current money of Virginia who purchased 2,000 acres of land in this section, which was then owned by Thomas and Elizabeth Richardson of Hanover, Virginia. The purchase was made June 7, 1803.

Paul had considerable influence in the community and later served as clerq of courts, clerk of county commissioners and clerk of the supreme court and county recorder. He began using his influence on the commissioners named to select the county seat, which is the first evidence in the county of the playing of politics on a large scale. The commissioners in making their report, recommended the property owned by Paul on which the city now stands. Joseph C. Vance was appointed director of the county to survey the county seat and lay out the town August 3, 1803 and on November 14, 1804, he bought the town site of 257 3-4 acres from Paul for $250, a little less than a dollar an acre. Before this transfer Paul, who evidently foresaw the growth of the city in future years, had donated one and one-half acres of ground for public buildings as in inducement to locating the county seat here. This land is now occupied by the Greene County Court House.

ENOUGH TO WORRY ANYONE

Life Lines
BY H.M.C.

THERE are many combinations that the world knows mighty well. What I mean is, things we mention in duet. And they come in close relations; just for instance, let us tell of a line of combinations we can get.

Ham and eggs is surely listed in the places where you eat and you'll also find the famous pork and beans. Many years they have existed and stood forth as quite a treat and have caused you to bring money from your jeans.

Then there's liver with its bacon that we all have heard about. And the well-known dish of beef and cabbage, too. Where's the man who has not taken cakes and sausage? There's no doubt that mere bread and milk have oft' appealed to you.

Steak and onions is a winner that is always bound to please and, another dish that's sure to hit you right, is the spare ribs and its sauerkraut or the bite of pie and cheese that you eat before you go to bed at night.

Now there may be many dishes that we've left out of this list, which are prominent at morning, noon or night. But, with these, our little wish is that the aim in mind's not missed and those mentioned give you all an appetite.

MIGHTY FINE MAN

JOHN MITCHELL, oldest baker in New England, is getting a lot of attention as he rounds out his 62d year in the baking business. His home is in Dorchester, Mass.

Mitchell is 73, but he still rises at 3 o'clock every morning, works until noon, then rests for a few hours. Around evening he shows up again in his bake-shop to look over the books and see that everything is in good running order for the next day.

How many other men at 73 are that active? Will you be? Mitchell says it's his hard work that keeps him in such excellent health. Some will sneer at that. But this much is certain: The man who keeps busy has little time to analyze his body's functioning and to worry over petty ailments until the mind expands them into serious illness. Worry and fear can make almost any one unhealthy—any one with too much time for thinking about himself.

Mitchell worked for others 21 years. Then he got into business for himself. Hard work and honest dealing have made his business successful, prosperous. Another reason why he does not worry.

Somehow we cannot help but wish that monuments could be erected in honor of hard-toiling men like Mitchell. They are the best citizens, the men on whose shoulders our civilization is carried.

The war hero, the movie star, the brilliant artist—all these are valuable to civilization in their own way. But there wouldn't be any civilization without the baker, the carpenter, the machinist, the miner and the host of others who are sort of lost in the shuffle and never heard of by the public at large.

Carry your head proudly, if you are performing useful service in life. Our great America is built on a foundation of faithful service by millions who deserve fame but seldom get it.

DRIVE TO MAKE GREENE COUNTY GREEN STARTS SOON

VALUE OF ALFALFA CROP WILL BE EMPHASIZED IN SERIES OF MEETINGS THROUGH NEXT WEEK

Launching the campaign to "make Greene County Green" County Agent Ford S. Prince, assisted by various committeemen, has arranged a series of meetings to be held over the county from February 5 to 10, when outside speakers, will be present to give interesting addresses upon the value of alfalfa as a crop, the meetings to be featured by free motion pictures, and "pep" programs.

Farmers of the county in whose community the various meetings will be staged are asked to bring their soil to these meetings for test to see whether they need lime. Ross, Silvercreek and Jefferson townships have been purposely left off the list of meetings since alfalfa has not been successful in these communities. Special meetings will be held for these townships later.

Here is the schedule for the meetings:

February 5, 7:30 p m, Beavercreek Township H. S.

February 6, 1:30 p. m. Caesarcreek. Lodge Hall, Paintersville.

February 6, 7:30 p. m. Bath Township H. S.

February 7, 1:30 p. m. Miami Township, Farm Bureau Hall.

February 7, 7:30 p. m. Xenia Township, Court House.

February 8, 1:30 p. m. New Jasper Township. Church Basement.

February 8, 7:30 p. m. Sugarcreek Township, Township House

February 9, 1:30 p. m., Cedarville Township, Murdock Theater.

February 9, 7:30 p m., Spring Valley, Town Hall.

Outside Speakers Secured

Outside speakers for the alfalfa campaign include M. Frank Morgan, Extension Specialist in Soils, Ohio State University; and Harry M. Brandon, Limestone Specialist, of the Ohio Marble Company.

Mr. Morgan will discuss the following topics at the meeting:

1—What type of soil is best adapted to alfalfa?

2—Is good drainage essential?

3—Will alfalfa thrive on an acid soil?

4—How can the need of limestone be determined

5—What are the fertilizer requirements of alfalfa?

6—How can the soil be inoculated for alfalfa?

7—What is the best way to prepare the land for alfalfa?

8—How much seed is required?

9—What are some of the best ways to obtain a stand?

10—Does alfalfa fit into a rotation with other crops

11—What are the advantages and disadvantages of "summer following?"

12—What are the advantages and disadvantages of growing with "nurse crop?"

13—How long can a stand of alfalfa be maintained?

14—What can be done to rejuvenate an alfalfa sod?

15—What is the best time to plow under an alfalfa sod?

16—How much plant food material is removed from the soil?

17—How much nitrogen is taken from the air and fixed in the soil by the bacteria in the nodules of the roots?

18—What is the effect of the soil of the root growth of alfalfa?

19—Does alfalfa obtain any good material from the sub-soil?

20—How does a crop of corn following alfalfa compare with a crop following red clover?

Mr. Brandon will discuss the preparation and use of the ground limestone on soils. County Agent Ford Prince will probably talk on harvesting and feeding alfalfa. Farmers who have grown alfalfa are urged to attend the meetings, and give in their experiences in growing, harvesting and feeding alfalfa.

PLACE FOR ALFALFA AS FEED ON EVERY FARM IS STATEMENT OF CO. AGENT

"Why should the Greene County Farm Bureau stage a campaign to increase the acreage of alfalfa within the confines of the county" County Agent Ford S. Prince was asked in connection with the alfalfa campaign being staged in the county, Feb. 5 to 10.

His reply was: "The reasons are many. Quite a number of Greene County farmers will attempt to grow alfalfa for the first time in 1923 regardless of the campaign. To insure their success is one big reason why it is important to bring the facts about alfalfa raising before them.

"Alfalfa is the most exacting crop that we produce. Drainage must be good, the soil should have or be supplied with limestone, inoculation bacteria must be provided, and a good seed bed is essential. Leaving out any one of these important factors will cause an alfalfa failure.

"A great many farmers have never fed alfalfa. There is a place for alfalfa as a feed onevery farm As a forage crop it is king of them all. For this reason and to eliminate the necessity of buying so much feed this campaign has been prepared.

"Alfalfa is the supreme roughage for dairy, beef cattle or sheep, is relished by hogs, is escpecially good for brood sows, is a fine feed for chickens, and can be fed to horses with excellent results.

"Its analysis is similar to wheat bran for which we pay high prices and it is so much richer as a feed than any other hay crop we feed that there is scarcely any comparison between them. To the men who have never fed any alfalfa, we can recommend it most highly.

"It is also the most productive hay crop we can grow. Three cuttings with an average yield per acre of from three to six tons per year are always produced. Alfalfa hay is selling at twenty dollars per ton today in Greene County. As a money crop therefore, it is in advance of any of our grain crops at present.

"A field of alfalfa will supply as much feed as two or three times that acreage of other hay. Cut the alfalfa, pasture or plow down the clover, build up the soil and raise better yields of grain at lower cost. The cost of producing grain crops is in inverse proportion to the yield. Alfalfa will help cut the cost."

Executive Committee Meets

A meeting of the members of the Executive Committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau will be held in the Farm Bureau office, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock .

FARMERS ENDORSE MOVE TO INCREASE ALFALFA

Proving the value of alfalfa as a crop, and the possibility of a larger acreage for it in Greene County, two farmers of the county have given their opinion of their experience with alfalfa. Joe Smith of Spring Valley Township put in three and one-half acres in 1921 and cut 21 loads of alfalfa hay in 1922. He is enthusiastic about the crop and is going to double his acreage in 1923.

E. J. Ferguson, of Beavercreek township, grows so much alfalfa he has to stack most of it out in the field. He feeds all he can of it, bales up the rest and sends it to market.

"Nothing like it," "Wouldn't be without it," "Yes, it is a nuisance when it has to be cut, but it is the most profiitable crop I grow," are expressions of Greene County farmers concerning alfalfa.

"Greene County is essentially a livestock county, and to put bloom on livestock, and to make milk or meat there is no hay feed like alfalfa. Yet, there is only one acre of alfalfa on the average for every farmer in Greene County. Let us double that in 1923,' said County Agent Prince.

MOVIES WILL BE USED AT ALFALFA MEETINGS

For entertainment and instruction at alfalfa meetings February 5 to 10 several reels of moving picture films have been secured, according to County Agent Prince. The Farm Bureau has also secured from the International Harvester Company a set of 50 picture slides entitled "Alfalfa on Every Farm."

These pictures, together with the speakers and the general widespread interest in alfalfa and other legume crops, promise to give the people of the various townships a real treat.

MANY SOILS NEED TO BE TESTED SAYS CO. AGENT

"We have found some soils in Greene County sour enough to set a pig's teeth on edge to walk over it," said County Agent Ford S. Prince, this week, speaking of the value of soil testing, to be held in connection with the alfalfa campaign.

All farmers of the county are urged to have their soil tested at the meetings to be held Feb. 5 and 10, in order to learn whether their soil needs lime, and how much it needs.

A half pint sample is sufficient for a test, all samples to be secured a few days before the meeting in each township. The dirt should be allowed to dry in a warm room but not heated on the stove or oven.

CORN AND GRAIN SHOW AT BEAVERCREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE SUCCESSFUL; PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Featured by a corn and grain show that was judged to be one of the best ever held in this part of the state, splendid work upon the part of the boys and girls of the community and large crowds the Farmers' Institute held at Beavercreek, Friday and Saurday, was a decided success. Officers of the Institute, are being complimented for the excellent program, and the success with which the entire Institute was carried out. A particularly pleasing feature of the program were the parts taken by pupils of the Beavercreek High School, who furnished a large part of the program the first day splendid local talent being offered.

The outstanding address of the Friday program was that of H. P. Miller, Sunbury, on "A Program for Organized Agriculture," a talk of particular interest to farmers, many worthwhile points being given by the speaker. Mrs. Veloras Martz, of Columbus, gave an address during the evening session on "A Community Experience" and was well received by her audience. Mrs. Miller's evening address concerned "Science and Practice in Feeding."

Saturday's program consisted of two sessions "Woman's Work" being the subject of Mrs. Martz' morning address, Mr. Miller speaking in the afternoon on "Principles and Methods of Livestock Improvement." Short talks on topics of farm interest, discussions and musical selections were the remaining features of the program.

The success of the corn and grain show has been given to Fred R. Keeler, Smith Hughes teacher at Beavercreek high school, and to the boys of the agricultural department of that school. One hundred and thirty exhibits were shown at the show, every one being of outstanding merit, and high rating, as judged by W. M. Hardman.

The followin awards were announced as a result of the show:

GREENE CO. FARMER WINS LAURELS AT CORN SHOW

A. B. Lewis of Bowersville won first prize in the state corn and grain show during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University, this week, with his corn exhibit. The contest was held among the men who had made the 100 bushel corn club, Mr. Lewis having made that club in 1919, with a yield of 105.2 bushels to the acre. The corn exhibited at the state show was the same variety with which Mr. Lewis made the club, Reid's Yellow Dent.

The exhibit was made up of bushels of selected ears, 14 out of 49 who made the club exhibiting at the show, which was one of the finest ever held in the state. Mr. Lewis won a prize of a steel corn crib.

FRANCE WINS BLOODLESS VICTORY IN RHINELAND AS RAIL STRIKE ENDS

German Resistance Has Broken Officials Declare; Backdown Is Predicted Throughout the Entire Nation On Saturday

Paris, Feb. 3.—German resistance has been broken in the Rhineland and Ruhr and France has won a bloodless victory of the first magnitude, according to officialdom and the press today.

The calling off of the German railway strike by the German authorities is regarded as the first step in a general backdown all along the line. The rail strike was the backbone of German passive resistance.

Echo De Paris reveals that Germany has sent a note to the inter al lied reparations commission protesting against the allied decision of Jan 26 holding Germany in voluntary default of all payments and deliveries pledged under the Versailles treaty. The note pointed out that the treaty obligated the reparations commission to "study Germany's resources and capacity for payments" before making such a decision.

Echo De Paris quoted a British diplomat as saying:

"Germany has hoisted the white flag. "In its editorial comment this newspaper declared:

"France will hold on to what she has siezed until everything owed by Germany is paid. Germany will have to pay everthing she obtain from the Ruhr.

Phillippe Millet, writing in the Petit Parisien, said that France is resolved not to hold any negotiations with Germany until the Germans accept French occupation of the Ruhr as a legitimate result of German defaults on reparations payments.

According to the Matin, French reparations experts are studying new guarantees which will be imposed as a result of Germany's failure to pay 500,000,000 gold marks indemnity due January 31.

"It is necessary for Germany to give unequivocal satisfaction before our repressive measures are halted," said the Matin. "Premier Poincare believes that the 1918 armistice was premature. He will NOT grant an armistice now in the war that is purely economic."

OHIO VALLEY IN PATH OF BITTER COLD WAVE NOW

Northwest in Grip of Low Temperature---Here in 24 Hours

Chicago, Feb. 3.—A cold wave swept the West and Northwest today.

The mercury in Chicago dropped to zero at 9 a. m., a fall of 34 degrees in 24 hours. Reports from other cities told of corresponding drops in temperature.

At Minneapolis it was 25 below zero at one time this morning.

Bismarck, N. D., and St. Paul both reported temperatures of 24 below zero and at Kansas City the mercury stood at 2 above at 7 a. m.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The cold wave from the Northwest will overspread the lower lake regions, the Ohio Valley and the Atlantic states as far south as South Carolina and Georgia within the next 24 hours, the weather bureau announced today.

There will be northwest gales and overcast weather along the middle and north Atlantic coasts.

SENATE PASSES FARM BILL; NOW GOES TO HOUSE

Measure Passes by Unanimous Vote--Provides for Credits

Washington, Feb. 3.—By unanimous vote the senate passed the Lenroot-Anderson bill, the second of the farm credits measures. It now goes to the house.

The bill provides for a maximum credit of $1,320,000,000 for agricultural loans through the existing farm loan system by establishment of 12 credit departments in the 12 land bank districts. Each would have $5,000,000 capital from the government, with authority to double the entire capital of $60,000,000. Authority to issue $1,200,000,000 in tax-free debentures, to provide additional loaning capital, would be given, subject to approval of the farm loan board.

The new credit departments would make loans from six months to three years on agricultural paper to cooperative agricultural associations on staple products or live stock. Interest rates chargeable would not be in excess of 1½ per cent above the land banks' rediscount rates. The debentures authorized would not bear more than 6 per cent interest, under an amendment by Senator Fletcher, adopted by the senate after its acceptance by Senator Lenroot, coauthor of the bill. An amendment by Senator Harrison to have direct loans made to individual farmers was defeated.

In passing the Lenroot-Anderson bill the senate rejected the substitute measure of Senator Norbeck, for which a strong fight was made with the backing of some agricultural organizations. It provided for centralization of farm credit funds by proposed administration of the war finance corporation. The co-operative bank plan of Senator Brookhart also went down to defeat.

The senate adopted an amendment by Senator Pomerene providing that loans to co-operative agricultural associations should be limited to 75 per cent of the market value of staple products of live stock given as security.

Mr. Wright is a Princeton man.

KLAN INVESTIGATION IS NOW NATION WIDE

Department of Justice Agents Invade Dozen States to Prove Reports of Alleged Lawless Activities Of Organization

Washington, Feb. 3.—The governmental investigation of Ku Klux Klan activities begun in Louisiana as a result of the hooded mob murders there has assumed nation-wide proportions, it was learned today.

An army of Department of Justice agents have invaded a dozen states, scattered from coast to coast, to determine the truth of charges that the klan's "invisible empire" has commited crimes of violence in violation of cvil and crminal law, terrorized state and national judiciary and nullified the powers of state governments in many communities. The result of this investigation may be the basis of governmental investigation of the klan in federal courts, it was said.

Some of the criminal charges brought against klan organizations, it was learned involve offenses ranging from kidnappings to murder. It was said to be the purpose of the government to determine whether these hooded mobs, some of which wore the full regalia of the klan, were acting with full authorization from the local klans or were klansmen misappropriating the "hood and gown" of the invisible empire.

Besides the alleged commission of crimes the political activities of klan organizations also is reported to be undergoing investigation by the federal agents. These "political activities," according to charges lodged with the department, involved the influencing of court's peace officers and juries in a number of states.

Informatioin obtained here today indicated the federal investigation of the klan already has been extended to the states of Washington, Oregon, Oklahoma, Colorado, Ohio, New York, Massachusetts and Georgia besides the hooded mob murder case in Louisiana.

GUARDSMEN ARE CALLED TO CITY AS RIOTS OCCUR

Corbin, Kentucky, Scene of Disorders—Hotel Is Dynamited

Corbin, Ky., Feb. 3.—National guardsmen arrived here early today to patrol the city following the urgent representations of Mayor Gilliam and Sheriff Young of Whitley County to Governor Morrow that the situation was out of their control.

The appeal for troops is the direct result of the recent dynamiting of a hotel, and the street battle a few days ago in which two men were killed.

A detachment of 25 men from Company B, London, Ky., were on duty throughout the city and the remainder of the company were held for orders at the London armory.

The troops are commanded by Lieut. W. A. Clark, Jr., who has been here several weeks as the representative of the state adjutant general.

The cause for the calling out of the troops, according to Sheriff Young is the tenseness of the situation, revolving around the shooting last Tuesday of two men and the blowing up of a hotel occupied by strike-breakers employed by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Sheriff Young said Jess Barker and J. C. Barker, brothers, were resisting arrest, in connection with shooting of Special Officer Day, and James Parker, a yard engineer.

Whitley county, long famous for its "bad men" has been the center of the most disorder throughout the strike of the shopmen, and while the city was quiet this morning officials openly expressed fear of a serious outbreak.

Railroad officials were silent but alert, and evry employe was under strict orders to keep himself where he belonged and to avoid contact with strikers or their sympathizers.

GREAT BRITAIN SEEKS ALLIANCE WITH U. S.

Nation Engaged in Laying Groundwork for an Anglo-American Accord, as War-torn Countries of Europe Have Little to Offer

London, Feb. 3.—With infinite pains and diplomatic skill Great Britain is engaged today upon the construction of groundwork and background for an Anglo-American accord. If the British are able to bring it about the understanding will be embodied in a definite treaty of amity.

Because of America's policy of non-intervention in European affairs, considerably strengthened in the past four years, British officials do not hope for a cut and dried alliance of defensive nature. But far-seeing statesmen in the British empire are convinced that the time is coming, probably within the next year or two, when Britain must turn from Europe to strengthen her world position.

The bankrupt, war-torn nations of Europe will have little or nothing to offer. Asia is out of the question. The British overseas dominions are not sufficiently powerful for London's needs. There is only one place to turn to: The United States.

The Anglo-French entente is virtually dead. The two countries are split upon all the vital international issues. British and French interests in the Near East are divergent and it has been difficult to maintain allied solidarity at Lausanne.

Great Britain opposed military occupation of the Ruhr and the Westphalian industrial zone.

The British were willing to reduce German indemnity, but the French refused.

Great Britain in the past three years has maintained a policy of moderation towards Russia against the wishes of France.

It is no secret in London and Paris that the old balance of power is gone. Since the war France has been contracting new alliances with Belgium, Poland, Jugo Slavia, Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia. If the Lausanne conference breaks down completely France probably will contract a separate treaty with Turkey.

Great Britain is making one international gesture after another to attract the friendship of the United States. The more important of them may be thus listed:

1—Abrogated the Anglo-Japanese alliance because it was offensive to America.

2—Immediately ratified the Washington conference treaties limiting naval armaments.

3—Speedily accepted America's terms for payment of the war debt owed.

BRITISH RENEW NEAR EAST WAR PREPARATIONS

Action Taken On Eve Of Time Limit Given to Turkey

MAKE CONCESSIONS

Allied Powers Make More Offers to Prevent Conflict

Malta, Feb. 3.—Great Britain renewed her Near East war preparations today on the eve of the time limit given to Turkey to accept or reject the Lausanne peace treaty. Two additional warships sailed for Turkish waters bearing large supplies of ammunition. Reinforcements of British marines and infantry departed, also, for the British fortress at Chanak, at the narrows of the Dardanelles.

Lausanne, Feb. 3.—The allied powers made further concessions to Turkey today in an effort to persuade the Angora government to accept the Allies Near East peace terms. It was agreed that Turkey should maintain as many troops as she desired in Thrace. Hitherto the Thracion forces had been limited to a few thousand gendarmerie. The Allies refused hower, to agree to the Turkish demand for plebescite in Mosul to determine whether this territory, with its rich oil fields, should be united with the Turkish state or considered a part of the kingdom of Irak.

The fight against Turkish acquisition of Mosul has been led by Great Britain which would lose control of the Mosul oil fields if Turkey obtained that territory.

The allies refused even to discuss a Mosul plebescite, holding that the question already was before the league of nations.

The impression was given that the concessions made today were the final limit of what Turkey might expect.

Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation was given until tonight to accept or reject the allied terms.

FARM MARKETS GREAT PROBLEM SAYS BRADFUTE

Xenia Man Addresses Columbus Chamber of Commerce Forum

Columbus, Feb. 3.—"The biggest problem confronting the American farmer and the American people is an improvement of the marketing problem," asserted President O. E. Bradfute, Xenia, American Farm Bureau Federation, addressing the Columbus Chamber of Commerce forum.

"A second big promblem is a better form of financing," continued President Bradfute. "The farm will not run on 60 or 90 day paper. It takes a year to grow grain, three years to grow livestock and the farmer wants credit accordingly. A third problem, confronting the farmer is transportation.

"It is to the direct interest of every banker, business man, laborer and professional man to put the farmer back to his normal purchasing power," President Bradfute declared.

FILM STAR LEAVES ESTATE OF $50,000

POSSIBILITY OF NEW WAR SEEN BY EX-PREMIER

Lloyd George Predicts That Trouble Will Result From Ruhr Seizure

Plymouth, England, Feb. 3.— The possibility of a new war, resulting from French seizure of the Ruhr, was mentioned by former Premier David Lloyd George upon his arrival here today from Spain. Troubles are being laid up for the whole world, the statesman added.

Immediately after landing, Mr. Lloyd George called for back files of the newspapers. He plunged into these papers and studied them with care, especially events in central Europe.

Subsequently the former premier issued the following statement to International News Service:

"The European outlook is bad; unquestionably bad. It is difficult to say whether war will be the outcome. Germany economically and politically is in a bad way.

"Occupation of the Ruhr was an act of gross folly and the wrong way to approach the reparations problem. It is the surer way of not getting reparations from Germany and it is laying up a store of trouble for the world which I do not care to contemplate."

He said he believed the American terms for funding the British war debt were "very stiff," but that he was glad the issue had been settled.

The former premier was bronzed and in fine spirts. He said his long stay in Spain had benefitted him immensely.

Asked if he intended to reenter the political fray, Lloyd George responded:

"There will not be any fray. We have got to get the country out of a mess."

TERRIFIC WIND STORM STRIKES SOUTHERN CITY

Sixteen Are Reported Injured in Mississippi Section

LOSS IN THOUSANDS

Floods Add to Discomfort of Inhabitants of Two Counties

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 3.—One town was almost blown away and sixteen persons injured last night when a wind storm struck Tate and Tunica Counties in Mississippi, according to advices reaching here today.

Property damage, it was said, will run into thousands of dollars.

Telephone reports said six houses were destroyed at Savage, Miss., and only one store building left standing. The Yazoo and Mississippi valley station and section house were damaged and the entire community was flooded by overflowing waters from Coldwater river. Dawn found residents of the section wading in water searching for their belongings.

The storm started two miles south of Evansville, in Lake County and swept through there with only slight damage. Ten houses between Evansville and Savage however were blown away.

LITHUANIA ISSUES DEFY TO ALLIES

Stockholm, Feb. 3.—The Lithuanian Parliament has rejected the allied ultimatum for withdrawal of the Lithuanian troops from Memal and has adopted a resolution to incorporate Memel as part of Lithuania, according to a dispatch from Kovna today.

The allied ultimatum had remanded dissolution of the Lithuanian provisional government as Memel as well as evacuation.

Paris, Feb. 3.—During the closing session of the League of Nations Council today Rene Viviani, of France, and Earl Balfour, of England, threatened that the Allies will impose an economic, financial and diplomatic blockade upon Lithuania unless that country accepts the Vilna neutral zone. Vilna was formerly the Lithuanian capital.

Following the Russo-Polish war Polish troops invaded Lithuania and seized Vilna, refusing to give it up. Then the allies proposed creating the territory into neutral zone. Poland accepted the proposal but Lithuania refused to do so.

BILL INTRODUCED WOULD LICENSE ALL REAL ESTATE MEN

Columbus, Feb. 2.—Provision for regulation of the real estate business throughout Ohio by licensing real estate brokers and salesmen, is contained in a bill which Rep. Dearmond, Butler county, introduced in the house today.

The proposed law is sponsored, it was stated, by the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards and is credited with being similar to a law operating in 14 states for periods ranging from two to six years. The primary purpose of the measure, it was explained is to protect the public against unscrupulous real estate dealers.

It is planned to have the state director of commerce supervise operation of the proposed law which calls for a license fee of $10 annually for each broker and $2 a year for a salesman. The fees would be expected to provide a fund much in excess of the cost of administering the proposed law. Brokers would be required to take a state examination while both brokers and salesmen would be required to give bond.

"Many unscrupulous persons are being eliminated from the business in adjoining states and there is danger that they will move into Ohio and enter the business here when their licenses are revoked in those states, unless we adopt a similar measure here," declared John F. McCrehen, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards.

State May Spend $300,000 For Buildings at Home Here

A building program for the O. S. and S. O. Home, including the erection of four new buildings and extensive repairs and involving a total expenditure of about $300,000, is being contemplated by officials of the institution, and will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Board of Trustees Saturday evening.

Plans laid by officials and which were approved by the finance committees of both Houses of the Ohio Leislature, during a recent visit to the Home, include construction of a new laundry building, dry cleaning building, school house, gymnasium, swimming pool and the remodeling of the old laundry building, and the present school house. Boilers and stokers for the power house, crusher and coal conveyor, laundry machinery, and new dry cleaning machinery are also included in the proposed improvements.

The Board of Trustees has approved the plans, and will discuss the complete details of the work and the amount of money needed to carry the plans through Saturday night. Supt. Sylvis Garver said Saturday that he believed the members of the finance committee of the House of Legislature see the need of the improvements and that the appropriation will be allowed by the members of the budget committee.

If the appropriation is allowed the work on the new buildings and the repair work will be begun soon according to Superintendent Garver. The money will be available about the first of July and the work will be started about that time.

With the addition of the new school building, one of the buildings now in use at the Home, will be converted into a manual training school for the boys of the institution, according to Superintendent Garver. The new building will be built as a High School, for both boys and girls, and will be constructed near the other buildings, in the space between the chapel and the school buildings. Only floor plans for the High School and the other buildings have been submitted to Superintendent Garver by the State Architect, the size of the new buildings, or the material for construction being undecided until the settlement of the appropriation.

The construction of a new gymnasium and swimming pool at the Home is in answer to a long-felt need on the part of the pupils, no facilities having ever been installed for this purpose. The new gynasium will be built near the group of school buildings, according to the tentative plans.

The distribution of new wool blue and gray uniforms among the boys of the institution, at Christmas time, has led to the introduction of the dry cleaning department at the Home, the new military dress uniform requiring dry cleaning instead of laundering. The dry cleaning department is to be installed as a part of the regular educational work of the boys of the institution, according to Superintendent Garver. The new dry cleaning building will be constructed near the power house, according to present plans.

As soon as the appropriation bill has passed the House, the work on the new buildings will be begun, Superintendent Garver said.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS CALL MEETING OF MEMBERS MONDAY

The future of the Chamber of Commerce will be decided at a special meeting called by the Board of Directors to be held in the organization rooms Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce and others, who are interested in civic organizations of its nature are asked to attend the Monday meeting and sit in on the solution of either the future or the disposition of the organization. Either those interested will attempt to see some ray of hope for the Chamber through the fog difficulties that surrund it, or they will be used to conduct the post mortem.

Cards of invitation are being sent out by Miss Janice Owens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. They read: "Man Alive! This is important. A matter of life and death. Chamber of Commerce meeting, Tuesday, February 6, at 7:30 o'clock Come and bring a friend with you to discuss the future of the Chamber of Commerce in Xenia." The invitation is signed by the Board of Directors.

YOUTH ACQUITTED OF GIRL'S MURDER

Lock Haven, Pa., Feb. 3.—"Not guilty!"

On the forty fourth ballot, taken shortly after they had been locked up for 114 hours, the jury in the case of Anthony Capello, local youth, accused of the murder of littlq Elizabeth Harley, school girl following an alleged joy ride, returned a "not guilty" verdict today.

The jury, it is said, had until the final ballot, stood 8 to 4 for acquittal from the first.

The defense contended that the girl was killed, not by any slayer, but accidentally when she was thrown from the automobile against a pole.

NEW ORCHESTRA IS ORGANIZED HERE

The "Harmony Kings" is the name of a new orchestra that has been organized here, according to announcement made Saturday.

Clarence Keffries and Roy Eyler, who were interested in the Apollo Orchestra and other musical organizations for a number of years, but who have recently not been indentified with an orchestra, have organized the new aggregation. Mr. Jeffries is leader and Mr. Eyler will act as business manager. The orchestra will control from four to 12 pieces.

VICTIMS OF FLU.

Newark, O., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Carrie Crawmer, 57, died 24 hours after her husband, Homer Crawmer, passed away. These make 10 deaths from flu in 48 hours.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS ARE REPORTED FROM PARTS OF COUNTRY

Washington, Feb. 3.—What was described as a "very violent" earthquakedisturbance was registered on th seismograph at Georgetown University here today. The disturbance was still in progress at 1:15 p. m. No estimate of the probable location of the quake can be made until the tremors cease, permitting an examination of the instrument.

Denver, Feb. 3.—The severest disturbance ever recorded on the seismograph instrument at St. Regis college here were reported today by Father Forestall. He said he believed they were caused by serious earthquake shocks but how far distant they were had not been figured. Father Forestall when informed of the earthquake at Milan, declared indications here were that the disturbances were from earth shocks across the Pacific ocean.

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 3.—An earthquake starting at 9:20 Pacific coast time today, which is still proceeding was of such violence that the recording pens of the university of California seismograph were thrown from the drum.

Officials of the observatory were unable to estimate how far away the quake is or in what direction.

BELIEVE SOLDIER PERISHED IN FIRE

Fort Thomas, Ky., Feb. 3.—Private James Redwood, cook, is missing and the ruins are being searched for his body, following a fire that destroyed six of the eight frame buildings housing 300 soliders at th army reservation here this morning. The loss is estimated at $10,000. A defective flue is given as the cause of the blaze.

OPERA SINGER RESENTS JOKE AND GETS PUNCHED

While on a train en route from Chicago to Boston, with other members of the Chicago Opera Company, Harry Cahill, interpreter of the company attired himself in the clothing of Hazel Eden, one of the sopranos, and proceeded to "vamp" William Back, a baritone. The flirtation went along splendidly until Beck discovered the deception and said unkind things to Cahill, as a result of which he is nursing a sore jaw, which came into contact with Cahill's fist.

REVEAL NEW PLOT TO RELEASE MRS. CATHERINE KABER

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—A new plot to release Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, serving a life term in Marysville reformatory for the killing of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Clevelander, in 1919, was revealed by Marysville reformatory officials to members of the Senate finance committee yesterday, Senator George H. Bender, a member of the committee, said here today.

A woman in Cleveland is being sought by county authorities in connection with the plot to release the woman, whose sensational murder trial here a year ago last summer held the front pages of newspapers for weeks.

Code messages between Mrs. Kaber and her outside confederates have been exchanged for weeks, according to Senator Bender and their passage was not intercepted by prison officials in the hope that a key to the cipher used could be found and the identity of the persons involved thoroughly established .

Shortly after her incarceration, Mrs. Kaber made plans to effect her escape which were discovered and frustrated by the matron.

OHIOAN UNDER ARREST.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 3.—A man giving his name as George Gallagher, arrested in connection with the robbery of a pawn shop in Cincinnati last March 23, in which three men obtained $50,000 in diamonds and jewelry, has admitted having taken part in the robbery, according to local officials.

GROUNDHOG IN GALOSHES DOES NOT SEE SHADOW

Brer Groundhog tramped around in the mud and rain with his goloshes and umbrella Friday trying to find enough sun by which he could cast a shadow of gloom without avail.

Not once during the day did the sun give the erstwhile forecaster an opportunity to cast his evil prediction of six more weeks of winter weather.

As a result, in spite of the promise of the government weather man of colder weather and in spite of the fact that the colder weather was very much in evidence, Xenians are inclined to pin their faith on the little animal prognosticator and are firm in their belief that spring is just around the corner.

BELLBROOK MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral services for Gideon Mills, 76, well known Bellbrook resident, who died suddenly Tuesday, were held from the late home, Thursday afternoon, in charge of the Rev. M. H. Way of the Union Church, with interment at the Bellbrook Cemetery.

Mr. Mills was found dead in bed Tuesday morning, and had been dead for several hours when found. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for about a year, a sudden attack being thought to have caused his death. At the time of his death he weighed over 300 pounds. He resided with his sister, Miss Lametta Mills, who survives with one brother, Charles Mills of Bellbrook.

OLD FASHIONED FAMILY REMEDY FOR COLDS, GRIP, PNEUMONIA AND BODY BUILDING

Father John's Medicine Builds New Strength During the Getting-Well Stage After Any Illness.

A Doctor's Prescription. Free From Alcohol and Dangerous Drugs—67 Years in Use.

The getting-well stage of grip is the most dangerous of all because the body, weakened by the grip, is wide open to attacks of other lurking disease germs.

That is why all the organs of the body must be kept in their best working order, not only to drive out the poison left by the grip germ, but that the patient shall regain strength as soon as possible to avoid further attacks resulting from the poisons in the system.

As a means toward good health after the grip Father John's Medicine builds up the body because it is all pure wholesome nourishment and free from opium, morphine, chloroform or other poisonous drugs or alcohol. Father John's Medicine has had sixty-seven years' success for colds and throat troubles, coughs and sore throats, and as a tonic and body builder.

QUASHING INDICTMENTS ON TECHNICALITIES.

The Spring Valley preacher, who deserted a large family and eloped with a young girl, ought to be in the penitentiary now. Yet he is a free man, with all that that implies, because of a technicality in the paper that sent him to the Dayton work house. It is shameful that such trivialities should be used to let law violators escape their just punishment.

Here is a like case. The chief of police of Ocala, Florida, with three other officers were recently indicted for murder in the first degree as a result of the killing of the driver of a speeding automobile, who declined to halt. The affair caused such a stir that a special grand jury was impanelled and the indictment found after a thorough investigation.

Now comes some smart lawyer and finds a word misspelled in the indictment—the stenographer touched the wrong key—, and the indictment is quashed. It is not claimed the defendants are any the less guilty or innocent. Their guilt or innocence has nothing whatever to do with it.

But the work of the court and grand jury is all undone because of the misspelling of a word. Such annulling of law on technicalities is bringing our courts into disrepute and encouraging mob violence.

ONE OF THE GREAT MEN OF THE PAST GENERATION.

If James G. Blaine had lived until the thirty-first day of January of this year he would have been ninety-three years of age. Mr. Blaine was not only one of the great men of his time, but he was one of the greatest statesmen the country has ever produced.

Mr. Blaine was a man of wide experience. He taught school; studied law; edited newspapers; served as a member and speaker of the Maine legislature; state chairman of the Republican party; member of Congress; United States Senator; Speaker of the House of Representatives; Secretary of State under two presidents, and was a candidate for the presidency.

Many people are under the impression that Blaine was a native of Maine. He wasn't. He never saw that far-corner state until he was 24 years old. He had the honor of being born in the little town of West Brownsville, Washington County, Pa.

At the age of thirteen Blaine entered Washington College in his native county, where he graduated in 1847, at the age of seventeen. It is claimed that at nine Blaine could recite Plutarch's lives. His favorite studies were history, literature and mathematics. After graduating he secured a job as teacher in the western military institute at Blue Lick Springs, Ky. While teaching at this place an important incident occurred that resulted in completely changing the course of Blaine's life and place of residence. He was introduced to Miss Harriet Stanwood, of Maine, who was attending a young ladies' seminary in the neighboring town of Millersburg. It was one of those "at first sight" affairs. A few months later they were married.

James G. Blaine came from notable ancestors. His great grandfather, Col. Ephraim Blaine, was a close friend of George Washington. He was an officer of the Pennsylvania line, and during the last four years of the Revolutionary War served as Commissary General of the Northern Department.

PLANT A TREE.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt planted a tree Wednesday to the memory of his brother, Quentin, in the school yard of the public school in Washington where they were students as boys when their father was President.

It had been many years since Colonel Roosevelt had visited the school. He sat in his old seat a moment and told the class how he used to pull the pigtail of the son of the Chinese Minister. who sat ahead of him. The tree was planted by the American Tree Association.

There can be no argument against a movement to plant a tree of some sort for every man, woman and child in America. Operating on the idea that you must first come to realize the value of a tree the American Tree Association at Washington offers to make every person who plants a tree a member, and if you do not know how to plant one the association will send you free instructions. Looking through the editorial expressions on the subject it seems about time to quit fiddling around and get some trees planted. That will show you mean business. The association wants us to become a nation of tree planters and celebrate the centennial of Arbor Day in 1872 by planting trees in honor of that event right now instead of waiting. If somebody had only thought of this 50 years ago there would have been thousands of people now demanding that something be done on a wholesale scale toward replenishing our forests stocks.

SAMPLE OF EUROPEAN "ENTANGELMENT."

Chancellor Seipel, Austria's Priest-Premier, was hung in effigy at Vienna Sunday night by a crowd of 3000 workers, following the largest demonstration since the great riot of December, 1921. The demonstration showed the solidarity of all the laboring groups against the financial program, which, though it is bringing the first hope of sanity into Austria's postwar affairs, is doing it at the cost of thousands of unemployed.

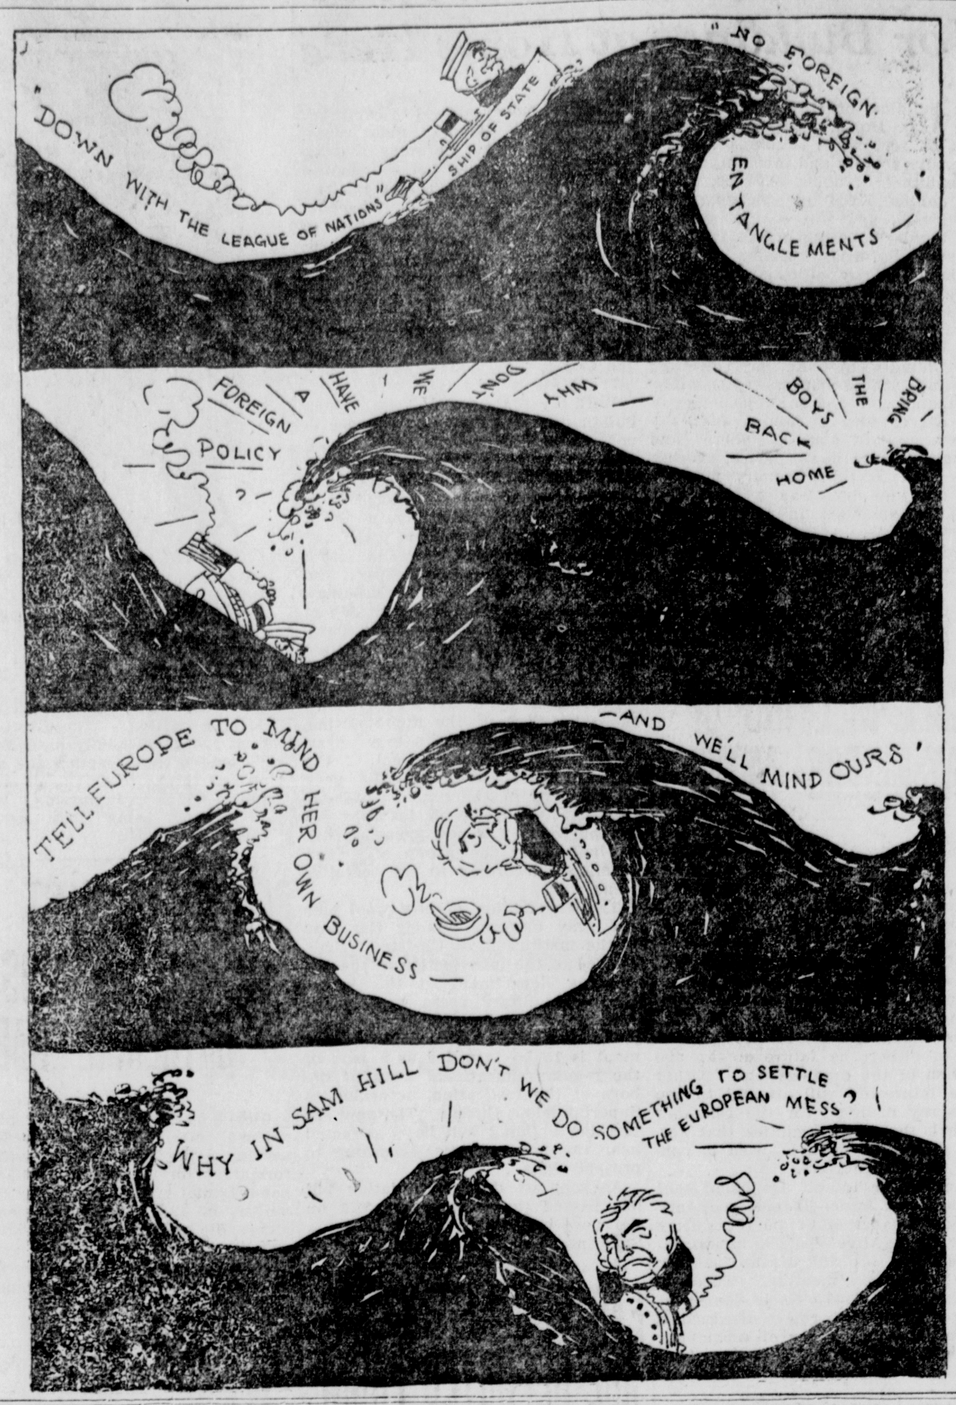

The chief demonstrators were dismissed officials, 24,000 of whom already are workless under the Government's economizing plan. Twice that number are still doomed to go. The professional and official middle classes marched under the Socialist banner in the demonstration.

Bitterness against the program of reconstruction has been increased by the further collapse of the German mark and the resultant conviction that all the Central Europe currencies will inevitably crash down again despite sacrifices and economies.

Order was rigidly maintained during the demonstration, though shops were closed as a precautionary measure.

It is participation in these European "entangelments" that some are urging. But George Washington, in his farewell address, solemnly urged us to keep out of them. We have enough troubles at home to keep us busy. Surely the American feeling is that we have had enough of the horrors of war to satisfy us for the next generation.

OH WHAT ARE THE WILD WAVES OF PUBLIC SENTIMENT SAYING?

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

A great deal of comment has been caused by the posting of an order at the Pan Handle telegraph office requiring or requesting that all the railroad employees, be vaccinated. Some of the employes, do not take very kindly to the request and one stated today that he would give up his position rather than accede to it. The prevalence of smallpox in Columbus, and at other points along the line has caused the company to take the step.

The corporation of the Methoist Episcopal Home for the Aged of Ohio, whose home at Yellow Springs was recently destroyed, has decided to locate the new home south of College Hill, Cincinnati. The plans have all been prepared and the building will be commenced immediately.

Mr. Allen ,the carpenter of N. King street, and Mr. Dode Knisley of Spring Hill, have formed a partnership and are already preparing for a busy summer, as there promises to be a great deal of building.

Perhaps one of the oldest military bands in the United States met at Burkholder Post, No. 115 G. A. R. at Yellow Springs, yesterday to have their photographs taken. The members of the band have lived in that place since the war and retain the same instruments used 41 years ago, while members of the 16th O. N. G. They are Dr. William Haffner, bass drum; A. F. Hopkins, snare drum, and fifer, and T. B. Jobe, fifer and bugler.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

If you want to waste a lot of money, there are a most amazing number of things to waste it on, all going under the name of beauty aids.

When I was first in Paris, I saw exquisite boxes in beauty shop windows labelled "cils," 'cil" I knew meant eye lash; but who kept eyelashes in a box? I went in one place and asked to see them, amused and ashamed of my ignorance. And sure enough, each box contained a most beautiful pair of eyelashes, black, brown, any shade you fancied—long, thick, made of real hair, I was assured, threaded on a colorless hair, ready to be attached to any pair of eyes in need of beautifying! One could have them at ten francs and up, and a mucilage came for attaching, which kept them on all day but allowed them to be washed loose with warm water, so they could be put away—more or less like false teeth!—for the night.

Of course the owner of such sweeping lashes couldn't weep, for if she indulged in sorrow, she would weep her eyelashes out, if not her eyes. Later I saw these rather odd inventions in London and New York, and I hear that they are sold in many other places. You'll wonder what they looked like. Well, they looked like what they were, fake eyelashes. For a real lash tapers imperceptibly towards its ends, the color gradually fading out, these were stiff and brittle, and blunt at the tips, and far too coarse. No amount of ingenuity could make them seem real.

What an odd creature a woman can make of herself—with a transparent complexion done with violet powder, or a romantic pallor done with green, with hair dyed or bleached any exotic shade, false eyelashes, eyes cut to make them larger, figure moulded and padded—but why go on with the list?

Mary B.—If you weaned the baby too suddenly or if you used anything to dry up the breasts it would make them flat and flabby as you describe. With proper care the bust should be as good looking before as after childbirth. As you seem to be too thin all over I think that if you take olive oil and rich milk and other things to make you fat you will notice a quick improvement in the bust. Do not wear any sort of brassiere at night, and during the day, not a tight one as you do now, but one snug enough to support the bust without confining it. Massage this part daily with warm cocoa butter followed by an ice rub or cold water rinse.

Mrs. B.—I would not advise the steady use of vanishing cream on the face as it is apt to clog the pores. For wrinkles I would advise a really nourishing face cream, one made with olive or almond oil.

J. S.—See a doctor at once about the inflamed eyes. Styes come from a poor condition of the blood and should really be treated medically.

"OLIVETTE" TO BE IN SPRING VALLEY

The musical opera "Olivette" will be presented at the Community Hall in Spring Valley Wednesday evening at 8:10, by the Davies Opera Company, of eight players. This musical opera has been arranged for since the cancellation of the date with the Moore Entertainers, who were forced to give up their work through illness in their family, a few weeks ago.

The Allen Lyceum Bureau states that this is the best talent available, and their play of "Olivette" is one of their favorites, out of several such as the Mikado and Pinafore in their repertore.

Tickets will be on sale at Arch Copsey's store Monday noon, at 25c and 50c.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 3.—Twenty-five national guardsmen from Troop B, 43d machine gun squadron, London, Ky., were ordered to Corbin, Ky., by Governor E. P. Morrow. The present strained condition followed a gun battle between railroad workers and special officers early Tuesday, when two men were killed and two wounded.

Rippling Rhymes by Walt Mason

THE PROCESSION.

Forty million cars go by, burning up the gasoline; long I watch them as they fly, flivver, bus and limousine; day and night they sweep along, all their engines going strong, blowing horn or sounding gong, autos yellow, black and green. Jabez Jimpson bought my pup, and the bill long since was due; now I see him hitting up fifty miles or fifty-two; he must know I need the cash, for my children cry for hash; but he drives as though he'd smash all the records—hear him choo! There goes Japhet Jingo Jones; seven months have gone their way since he borrowed fifteen bones, which he would return next day; fifteen bucks I sorely need; they would save my life, indeed; but this Jones is showing speed, with a jaunty hip-hooray. Here comes Peter Tinkle now, scorching 'neath the silver moon, and he owes me for the cow that he bought the 10th of June; little, little does he care that I have no shirts to wear, that my granny's feet are bare, as he chants his joyous tune. Down the vales and up the hills I can hear the motors clink; if the owners paid their bills, how the long parade wouldl shrink. Autos yellow, green and red would be standing, cold and dead, in some gloomy auction shed, quicker than the eye can wink.

Today's Talk

AGE AND BEAUTY

I have a lovely specimen of crystal—natural quartz. As I look at it, I am reminded that its beauty is the result of age.

There is nothing spontaneous about the origin of crystal.

I think of a group of friends that have become more wonderful to me with the accumulating years.

I glance at a choice piece of furniture that they tell me is very old—and rare—and therefore very interesting and unique.

I glance at the bed of live coals in my fireplace.

Little by little they grow less bright until I take the poker and nest them tightly together—and then I go to my bed, telling the warmed memories of the evening how happy they have made me.

I am reminded, however; that nothing else about that evening's fire could quite compare with the beauty of its parting moments.

After an object, or a friend, has been much to us for a long time, when we come to part with either—even though it be for but a short time—it seems as though all the finest in either is pictured strongest to us at that time.

After a long association when the time for parting comes there are qualities in our friend that loom before our eyes as never before.

For the years ripen and enrich!

Each day each one of us adds or takes away from the sum total of real beauty worth in this world. We are the very unite of beauty and we grow as we learn more and more to appreciate beauty.

One of the secrets of a happy life is to trot along with your years—not to be dragged along by them.

PREPARE FOR OCEAN RATE WAR

Washington, Feb. 3.—Should British passenger lines in the north Atlantic service start the rate war which some have predicted as soon as the Leviathan is put on the New York-Southapton-Cherbourg run, they will find the American lines well prepared. The $50,000,000 appropriation for the shipping board, it was said, placed the United States lines in a position to meet any competition, at least until July, 1924.

REMARKS MADE IN SENATE HELD OBJECTIONABLE

Washington, Feb. 3.—Statements made by Senator Heflin during discussion of the British debt funding arrangement were expunged from the record after heated debate.

The controversy ended with Senator Heflin being reproved a second time for use of improper language and with remarks by Senator Couzens, the new Republican member from Michigan, also being declared objectionable and ordered expunged from the record.

By a vote of 40 to 28, the senate first decided that Senator Heflin had violated the rules by referring to Senator Wadsworth in discussion of British debt funding as a representative of the "bond sharks and big financiers of Wall street."

Senator Heflin's second offense developed during his criticism of Senator Couzens' vote against him in the Wadsworth matter, when he referred to the Michigan senator as a millionaire representative of big business interests. In the same vote the senate also expunged statements by Senator Couzens that Senator Heflin was "playing to the galleries" and had "sneaked out in the night time" to change the record of his clash with Senator Wadsworth.

Solon Accuses Harding.

A violation of the budget law by President Harding through his failure to recommend to congress the means of wiping out the prospective deficit in government finances this year was charged in the house by Representative Garner, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee.

Mr. Garner was opposing an amendment to the liberty loan acts, under which the sinking fund could be used in retiring government securities other than liberty bonds and victory notes. He charged that the purpose was to use the sinking fund in the daily operations of the government so that the anticipated deficit of $270,000,000 for this fiscal year might not show on the treasury books.

"The Republican party, from the president down," said Mr. Garner, "wants to show to the American people that there is no deficit, but if the sinking fund is used to retire $300,000,000 in liberty bonds in May, as the present law requires, the deficit will be there."

Defending treasury administration of the sinking fund law, Representative Treadway declared Mr. Garner was not accurately informed as to the facts. He asserted that the records showed that the treasury already had used $40,000,000 of the $300,000,000 fund for this fiscal year for the retirement of liberty bonds.

The order was issued by Judge D. C. Westenhaver of the federal district court. He also ordered the abolishment of the two-period plan in operation in hand-blown glass factories of the country.

Several thousand workers and 56 plants producing hand-blown window glass in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Ohio are affected.

The ruling held that the two-period plan, under which half of the plants are idle while the other half are in operation, violates the Sherman anti-trust law, in that it curtails production and boosts prices.

The opinion also points out that the workers, who were a party to the wage scale agreements, had twice in polls of their membership voted against the two-period system.

HAIR-SPLITTERS BUSY AS PAPERS OF FESS UNSIGNED

Washington, Feb. 3.—Something of a flurry was created here when it was discovered that the certificate of election of Dr. Simeon D. Fess to the U. S. Senate bears no date. Officials of the Senate took the position that this is a serious oversight and that the certificate as it now stands cannot be accepted.

It had been the intention of Senator Willis to present the certificate to the senate this week and obtain its acceptance so that Dr. Fess could begin to draw senatorial pay March 4.

It will be necessary to send the certificate back to Columbus and the hairsplitters are divided over the question as to whether Governor Donahey can legally write into the certificate the date, since his precdecessor signed the certificate. Again the question has arisen as to whether ex-Governor Davis being out of office can write in the date. Another question is whether if the certificate is not accepted before the Congress adjourns March 4 Dr. Fess can begin to draw pay before next December, when the next Congress will begin.

The whole matter presents a puzzling enigma to the officials here to deal with. Possibly the outcome will be that Governor Donahey will issue an entirely new certificate signed and certified to by himself, though it has not exactly been determined here he has the legal right to do this.

RIVALS 39 TO 23—PIQUA IN BAD SHAPE

Central High Defeated

By practically the same margin of points by which they were defeated by McClain High of Greenfield last year, the Central High basketball team dropped another game at Greenfield Friday night, the score being 39 to 23. Last year's score was 37 to 22.

Xenia was again handicapped by inability to connect consistently with the baskets, missing many shots. Captain Armstrong and Mossbarger at the forwards, furnished most of the difficulty for the Xenia pastimers who were unable to stop these lads. The lineup and summary:

Autos In Action Tuesday

In spite of the mediocre support so far, the Famous Autos basketball team, still determined to see that court fans here get the best in the way of basketball exhibitions, will furnish another interesting game next Tuesday, meeting the N. C. R. Tigers, leaders of the N. C. R. factory loop in Dayton.

The Tigers claim the right to step out in the class the Famous Autos represent by consecutively leading the loop of N. C. R. teams, which are made up of some of the best talent in Dayton. The Tigers are so well out in front they want to step out in faster company and they will get their wish when they stack up against the locals next week.

In the Famous Autos aggregation Xenia is represented by one of the best independent teams in its history. Manager George Haller is sparing no expense to see that the cream of Dayton court talent is skimmed to make up the personnel of the local aggregation every week, and the Autos are making such an active bid for popularity, that they deserve support. Mark, Barlow, Koester, Koehly, Solimano and Solowitz will compose the team again next Tuesday.

Two interesting preliminaries have also been arranged. The Famous five now much strengthened will get into action in the semi-windup with the South Side Merchants in what promises to be an interesting battle. The Famous outfit has had enough defeats for the season and with a greatly strengthened lineup, hope to step into the win column for a while, exhibted by their defeat of the L. E. John Emeralds last week. The new lineup is composed of Barnett, Owens, Muterspaw, Derrick, Curlett, Day Herry and Jacoby and these lads are bound to make themselves heard from the city loop.

In the preliminary, the Prostolite Girls, champions of this section of the state and the Ohio Bells of Dayton will engage. These teams play under boys' rules and furnish quite a different exhibition from the usual girls' games.

HOME BACK IN ACTION.

After an absence of two weeks from the court the O. S. and S. O. Home Cadets will get into action again Saturday night, when they take on the speedy Dayton Wolverines, a classy 145 pound team.

From advance dope the Gem City combination has been making all the teams of its weight step lively, while on the other hand after long lay off that the locals have had they are in the pink of condition and are promising the fans a win. Anyway the game should be a nip and tuck affair and those who journey to the Home Armory will see a lively tussle. The game will be called at 7:30 sharp with Schultz in charge.

PIQUA IS HANDICAPPED.

Piqua High School basketball team which met and defeated the Xenia Central High five here last week, might be much easier to get along with this week. Four of the athletes have been ruled off the team because of scholastic difficulties and the Piquads are having trouble putting a winning team on the floor.

GIRLS TEAM WINS.

Cedarville College girls basketball team defeated the Springfield Y. M. C. A. Industrial girls team at Springfield Friday night 14 to 12. The game was close and well played each team being in the lead at several times, and the outcome being in doubt until the end of the pastiming.

BOXERS ARE HIT

New York, Feb. 3.—Jack Dempsey's chances of defending his heavyweight title this year, at least in New York state, were reduced to a minimum as a result of the decision of William Muldoon, chairman of the state athletic commission, not to permit contests with the two men regarded as leading challengers, Harry Wills, negro, and Jess Willard. Excessive financial demands by Dempsey's manager Kearns, and alleged commercialistic methods by promoters seeking to stage one or both of the bouts, Mr. Muldoon declared, prompted his attitude. Staging of a Dempsey-Wills or Dempsey-Willard bout in New York state, he said, would be detrimental to the boxing game.

DAVIS URGES PLAN LIMITING TERM OF GOVERNOR OF OHIO

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—A four-year term for governor is advocated by former Governor Hary L. Davis, who issued a statement today to the people of Ohio. He would abandon the present two-year plan and replace it with a four-year tenure, limited to a single term. Davis says under the present plan, with a state election each two years and the incumbent governor seeking re-election, the state is not only deprived of the chief executive's time and guiding hand, but the machinery of government passes through a period of interruption that does not contribute to efficiency. He added:

"I have preferred to wait until after expiration of my term as governor before launching a direct movement for a constitutional amendment as outlined so the action might not be misunderstood as due to a wish to benefit by it myself. Now that I am out of office, my desire to be of continuing public service as a private citizen has further induced me to start this movement under way."

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED.

Lorain, O., Feb. 3.—Stella Chapman, 19, was instantly killed, and Lawrence Nocum, 40, was seriously injured, when a New York Central train crashed into an automobile driven by Nocum as they were passing a crossing in Vermillion, eight miles west of here.

Mr. A. Moore Shearin, a graduate of last year's college class, acting as Assistant Publicity Director for the Lower California-Mexican and Land Development Company of Los Angeles, California, gave his friends a surprise by calling on them Wednesday and Thursday. It is rumored that he came to make arrangements to return next June and on Commencement Day take one of the young lady graduates to Los Angeles.

Mr. Duce Mohamet, Editor of the African and Orient Review, member of the American Negro Academy and Imperial Turkish Order of Mejedie Ancient Egyptian, gave a lecture to the students Monday night. The lecture was very interesting and covered the Central and Southern parts of Africa.

Mr. H. L. Seamans, State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for colleges, visited the local branch of the school Saturday. He was introduced by Pres. Gregg to the students at chapel and spoke of the work in colleges in Ohio. In the evening he addressed the members and friends of the Y. M. C. A. and spoke of his trip to Europe and of conditions as they exist in the cities of France and Germany.

Miss Crissinger Is Promising Novelist

Miss Donna Crissinger

Miss Donna Ruth Crissinger, daughter of the newly appointed Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, has won much commendation in the literary field. She has already done many fine short stories and poems and her first novel is soon to be published.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

RECALL PROPOSAL AFFECTS OFFICIALS

Columbus, Feb. 3.—Representative Kasch of Akron offered a resolution in the house proposing submission of a constitutional amendment for recall of all state elective officials. Should the amendment be submitted and be approved by the voters, the recall of a governor or any other state elective official, including members of the legislature, could be effected upon filing of a petition setting forth charges against the official or officials, signed by 25 per cent of the voters who cast their ballots for governor at the last preceding general election.

With the recall petition, the secretary of state would also be required to place on the special election ballot the names of candidates for the office during the unexpired term yet remaining. In case the incumbent would be recalled, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes would serve out the unexpired term.

BIJOU TO-NIGHT

ALSO "FUN FROM THE PRESS"

MONDAY—RICHARD BARTHELMESS IN "THE BOND BOY"

Styles BY LENORE

An extremely likable frock is this of brown rep, which takes for the upper half of its cleverly designed bodice a lustrous crepe in the same color. The flaring sleeves are simpler than sleeves have been for several months, but there is a never-failing grace in this simple flare effect. The waistline is slightly below the normal.

This is an excellent foundation for remodeling an old frock, if you are one of those accomplished people who have a knack for that sort of thing, or if you are lucky enough to enjoy the services of a seamstress whose work is dependable.

And, if you have a fancy for the picturesque effects to be obtained from the brilliantly patterned silks which are adding so much color to the world these days, you will find this a practical model in which to try out the idea. If you weary of the bright colors, or fear that your friends might, plain silk may be easily substituted.

PECK'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Cincinnati, Feb. 3.—Judge John W. Peck received a letter from President Harding officially notifying him that his resignation as judge of the United States district court for the southern district of Ohio to become effective April 3 had been accepted.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

UNION COMMUNITY CLUB PRESENTS A COMMENDABLE PLAY

The presentation of "Deacon Dubbs" by an amateur cast from the Union Community Club delighted a large audience at the Union School house auditorium Friday evening.

The roles were all splendidly taken and the play was put over in a style that would have done credit to a professional company. The play, which was a three act comedy abounded in amusing situations which were cleverly presented. The first act had as its setting a country auction, the second act a country wedding and the third a husking bee. The stage settings were attractive and the costumes well planned.

The ability shown by the amateur actors made the performance especially enjoyable, all filling their roles with a zest and naturalness that was very pleasing. Ray Ledbetter as "Deacon Dubbs" and Harry Robinson in an Irish role proved star actors although the other members of the cast all came in for a full share of the honors.

Between acts Virginia Watkins, who is a child soloist of more than ordinary ability, gave several numbers and Mrs. John Watkins, at the piano, and served as accompanist throughout the play, gave several piano solos. A pianologue by Mrs. Carl Babb was also an enjoyable feature of the numbers between acts.

The entire performance was highly creditalbe throughout and the members of the cast and their assistants are being heartily congratulated on its success.

SHOTGUN WOUND IN STOMACH.

Portsmouth, O., Feb. 3.—The body of George Kuhns, 50, was found lying between two beds with a shotgun wound in the stomach at his home in Stockdale. Kuhn's wife filed suit for divorce Thursday, alleging he had threatened to kill her and himself.

DIFFER ON THIRTY POINTS.

Lausanne, Feb. 3.—A list of some 30 points on which the Turks differ from the allies was sent to the allies by the Turks in connection with the peace treaty which the powers are seeking to conclude. The Angora delegates to the near east conference still refuse to accept the clause in the allied draft treaty under which foreign legal counselors would sit with Turkish magistrates in trials involving foreigners, steadfastly maintaining that this violates their sovereign rights.

SON-IN-LAW HELD.

Middletown, O., Feb. 3.—Homer Hardis, 31, is being held by police in connection with the death of his father-in-law, William Sears, 68, following an alleged attack. Mrs. Sears, widow of the victim, is reported in a critical condition, a victim of heart disease, as a result of the affair.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. Robinson Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amarillo, Texas.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache so that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years; then a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."—Mrs. C. B. Robinson, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Tex.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful times, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

PLEADS GUILTY AND FINED ON CHARGE FOLLOWING RAID

Clarence Wakely, Spring Valley, was fined $700 and costs, when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate J. O. Jones, Friday afternoon to charge of possessing implements for the manufacture of liquor.

Wakeley, were arrested by a raiding party led by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, and a still and 200 gallons of mash were confiscated by the raiding officers. William Wakeley entered a plea of not guilty and will have his hearing in Magistrate Jones' Court, next Friday at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the raiding party included dry agents from the office of B. F. McDonald, state prohibition enforcement officer, Columbus, and operatives of Zoll's Secret Service Agency, Springfield, who have been working up liquor cases in the county through arrangements with Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson. They also took part in the raid conducted by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy George Spencer Friday when John Monnett, Yellow Springs, was arrested and later fined.

MRS. SARAH KERSEY DIES SATURDAY

Mrs. Sarah Ann Hersey, 65, died at her home on Hudson Avenue, Saturday morning at 1:35 o'clock. Her death was due to heart trouble.

Surviving are two sons, Jerry and James and two daughters, Mrs. Amanda Fox and Mrs. Ida Pleukharp, all of Xenia. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Monday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of the Rev. Frank Watkin, pastor of the Nazarene Church and burial will be made in Woodland.

McClellan Neighborhood

The McPherson Community Club spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Eaton. A pleasant social time was enjoyed and an elaborate refreshment course was served by the scoial committee. Mr. Van Eaton will have a public sale Feb 26 but has not fully decided where he will locate.

The Harper farm has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Grant of the Burlington pike, they will move March 1.

Mrs. James Hollingshead of Lower Bellbrook pike is quite ill, suffering from an attack of grip. Miss Rosalie Hollingshead who is teaching in Cincinnati schools is also on sick list with congestion of the lungs.

Miss Rozella Horner, student at Ohio Wesleyan University is spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harner of the Upper Bellbrook pike.

SMALL AUDIENCE GREETS MINSTRELS

The minstrel first part was an especially pleasing part of the program for the old-fashioned black-face art and singing was carried through with dash and speed that never permitted lagging. The solos were well received and the chorus work was good.

The second part offered a number of novelty acts and comedy numbers, the best of which was the closing skit, with its lively comedy situations. The minstrel troupe played here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

ZIMMERMAN

There was an all day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, at the church, Wednesday, 22 ladies being present.

Much interest is being shown in the revival at this place. Rev. Haines preaches some very forceful sermons. To date, there have been 22 additions to the church.

Mrs. Homer Koogler has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis.

The Studenbaker sedan, belonging to I. M. Coy, and driven by his son, was badly wrecked at Zimmerman, Thursday evening, when it collided with another machine going east on the Xenia pike. The Coy machine was backing away from the gasoline station, when the collision occurred, which damaged both machines, but no one was hurt seriously.

TORTURED MANY YEARS BY KIDNEYS.

"I have had kidney trouble for 12 years," writes H. P. Pinkney, West Jackson, Miss. "Pains in back, joints catches in the hips, run down and getting up too much during the night. But since taking Foley Kidney Pills, my suffering is over and I feel like a new man." Backache, rheumatic pains kidneys and bladder trouble quickly relieved with Foley Kidney Pills. Refuse substitutes. Insist upon Foley's Honey and Tar. Sayre and Hemphill, 8 South Detroit St.—Adv.

The clever and economical housewife familiarizes herself with the various methods of clothes-renovation, so that she can avoid bills for dry-cleaning.

I have on my desk six letters from Reader Friends, each letter asking for advice on renovating either woolen, goods, silks or velvets. I will take up these three materials separately:

TO CLEAN WOOLEN GOODS: Gasoline, benzine or naptha are excellent for cleaning woolen goods. As these fluids are highly inflammable they should not be used near heat and flame. Ordinary spots, from grease or dust, can be removed by dipping a cloth in the gasoline and rubbing this on the spot. But there are many housewives who do not use gasoline; they think there is nothing better than the simple old-fashioned method of washing woolen goods in warm water and soapbark. To do this, get ten cents' worth of soapbark from your druggist and pour over it two quarts of boiling water. Let this stand until the strength is taken from the bark, then strain, and pour into a tub of lukewarm water. Let the material stand for one-half hour in the suds, then rub well and rinse in another water of the same temperature (to keep the goods from shrinking.) Press on the wrong side before thoroughly dry. You should always experiment first with a small piece of the material to be sure that it does not change color or shrink badly, under this treatment. If you find it does, then use the gasoline treatment. A badly soiled wool garment may be immersed in a gallon or two of gasoline, dipped up and down in it to loosen the dirt, then rinsed in clean gasoline and hung on the line until the odor has completely evaporated.

FOR SILKS: Mix six ounces of strained honey and four ounces of a pure white soap with one pint of good alcohol. Lay each piece of silk flat on a table and, with a brush, cover the silk with the mixture, first on one side and then on the other. Brush as little as possible and always straight up and down. Dip the silk in several tepid rinsing-waters, the last one mixed with a little honey. Do not wring the silk. Simply hang it up and, when half-dry iron with a cool iron on the wrong side.

VELVETS are cleaned by steaming. First brush it well to remove dust. Then put a hot iron in a box, wedged up-side down, and cover the face of the hot iron with a good-sized piece of wet muslin. This produces steam. Move the muslin along as it dries on the iron. Hold the velvet with its wrong side against the muslin and brush it carefully with a soft brush until the pile is raised—brushing against the nap. Another way to steam velvet is to hold it tightly over a pan of boiling water.

OHIOAN UNDER ARREST.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 3.—A man giving his name as George Gallagher, arrested in connection with the robbery of a pawn shop in Cincinnati last March 23, in which three men obtained $50,000 in diamonds and jewelry, has admitted having taken part in the robbery, according to local officials.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 95.

The studio door was ajar and I heard voices. Quietly I pushed the door a bit further open, so that I might hear. There might be someone there I wouldn't care to meet.

To my surprise I heard Grace Harter's husky voice ,saying:

"What in the world ails you, Walt? You are as nervous as a witch, and cross as the dickens. What has happened to disturb your lordship? I thought everything was going famously. People went wild over that portrait of Miss Vernon and the one of Doreen and Jack. You are hard to please, evidently. I dropped in expecting to find you all 'sot up' with pride."

Breathlessly I listened for Walter's answer. No thought of shame at listening came to me, I was beyond any feeling of that kind.

"I am terribly out of sorts, Grace. But I didn't mean to take it out on you—yes, the portraits went great; I've several commissions as a result."

"Then, what is it? A new flirtation that isn't going to suit you?"

"Stop your kidding, Grace. You know well enough my 'flirtations' as you call them, are harmless; that I can't help raving over a beautiful woman. Probably will when I am 90, if I live to be so old."

"I believe you But come, fess up, what is the matter?"

"I'm as lonesome as the very devil! I can't stand it without Doreen. I have written a dozen telegrams for other is something my system isn't her to come home, then torn them up. She's so unselfish. I felt ashamed to ask her to come back, to shorten her visit ,but Gad, how I miss her!"

"You surprise me, Walter. I have thought many times you were almost indifferent to Doreen—I think she has—"

"Indifferent to Doreen! Why she's the only woman I ever cared a whoop for. If she doesn't come in a day or two I shall go fetch her, and—"

"What's that? Who are you going to fetch?" I said my heart thumping wildly for pure happiness. I had come prepared to give Walter up, only to hear that he loved me, had missed me; was unhappy without me.

"You, you rouge!" Walter's arms were around me, and I was sobbing on his breast.

"I never was so happy in all my life—never!" I exclaimed. Then catching a knowing look in Grace's eyes, that showed she suspected I had heard them talking, I added: "I had a lovely time, and father and mother did everything for me, as well as spoiling Jack. But there's no place like home—when home means you, Walter."

"I guess I'd better go. Married people going into rhapsodies over each accustomed to," Grace said dryly.

"Don't go, Grace. I remember when you and I thought we cared for each other. Puppy love is a queer thing. I took it out on you, I guess so that when Doreen came along I could give her the real thing."

I laughed joyously.

"Do, stay, Grace. Go home with us to dinner. We'll telephone George."

"No, thank you! I think I know my business too well to butt in on 'newly weds.' "

I went to the door with her, and she whispered:

"Best thing you ever did, going away and letting Walt miss you. He's been confiding in me, and I don't think you need worry ever again—but don't expect him to be a saint; he won't!" and the woman I had so disliked, had been jealous of, and who had proved the best friend I ever had, leaned over and kissed me.

For an hour Walter and I talked. He showed me more of his real self, his feeling for me in that hour than I had seen in the years we had lived together.

"I was becoming unbearable, Doreen," he said, with a shammed sort of a laugh. "I was like a small boy crying for his mother. The Mater has been fine, so has Grace and everybody, but they aren't you! I don't think I shall ever let you go for so long again. Why didn't you wire me so I could meet you?"

"I wanted to surprise you?" I replied, thinking how I had been surprised; trembling with the reaction.

"You did it all right I expect Grace thinks we are a couple of sillies crying in each others arms."

"I don't care what anybody thinks—about anything!" I replied happily.

DRIVE TO MAKE GREENE COUNTY GREEN STARTS SOON

VALUE OF ALFALFA CROP WILL BE EMPHASIZED IN SERIES OF MEETINGS THROUGH NEXT WEEK

Launching the campaign to "make Greene County Green" County Agent Ford S. Prince, assisted by various committeemen, has arranged a series of meetings to be held over the county from February 5 to 10, when outside speakers, will be present to give interesting addresses upon the value of alfalfa as a crop, the meetings to be featured by free motion pictures, and "pep" programs.

Farmers of the county in whose community the various meetings will be staged are asked to bring their soil to these meetings for test to see whether they need lime. Ross, Silvercreek and Jefferson townships have been purposely left off the list of meetings since alfalfa has not been successful in these communities. Special meetings will be held for these townships later.

Here is the schedule for the meetings:

February 5, 7:30 p m. Beavercreek Township H. S.

February 6, 1:30 p. m. Caesarcreek, Lodge Hall, Paintersville.

February 6, 7:30 p. m. Bath Township H. S.

February 7, 1:30 p. m. Miami Township, Farm Bureau Hall.

February 7, 7:30 p. m. Xenia Township, Court House.

February 8, 1:30 p. m. New Jasper Township, Church Basement.

February 8, 7:30 p. m. Sugarcreek Township, Township House

February 9, 1:30 p. m., Cedarville Township, Murdock Theater.

February 9, 7:30 p m., Spring Valley, Town Hall.

Outside Speakers Secured

Outside speakers for the alfalfa campaign include M. Frank Morgan, Extension Specialist in Soils, Ohio State University; and Harry M. Brandon, Limestone Specialist, of the Ohio Marble Company.

1—What type of soil is best adapted to alfalfa?

2—Is good drainage essential?

3—Will alfalfa thrive on an acid soil?

4—How can the need of limestone be determined

5—What are the fertilizer requirements of alfalfa?

6—How can the soil be inoculated for alfalfa?

7—What is the best way to prepare the land for alfalfa?

8—How much seed is required?

9—What are some of the best ways to obtain a stand?

10—Does alfalfa fit into a rotation with other crops

11—What are the advantages and disadvantages of "summer following?"

12—What are the advantages and disadvantages of growing with "nurse crop?"

13—How long can a stand of alfalfa be maintained?

14—What can be done to rejuvenate an alfalfa sod?

15—What is the best time to plow under an alfalfa sod?

16—How much plant food material is removed from the soil?

17—How much nitrogen is taken from the air and fixed in the soil by the bacteria in the nodules of the roots?

19—Does alfalfa obtain any good material from the sub-soil?

Mr. Brandon will discuss the preparation and use of the ground limestone on soils, County Agent Ford Prince will probably talk on harvesting and feeding alfalfa. Farmers who have grown alfalfa are urged to attend the meetings, and give in their experiences in growing, harvesting and feeding alfalfa.

PLACE FOR ALFALFA AS FEED ON EVERY FARM IS STATEMENT OF CO. AGENT

"Why should the Greene County Farm Bureau stage a campaign to increase the acreage of alfalfa within the confines of the county" County Agent Ford S. Prince was asked in connection with the alfalfa campaign being staged in the county, Feb. 5 to 10.

His reply was: "The reasons are many. Quite a number of Greene County farmers will attempt to grow alfalfa for the first time in 1923 regardless of the campaign. To insure their success is one big reason why it is important to bring the facts about alfalfa raising before them.

"Alfalfa is the most exacting crop that we produce. Drainage must be good, the soil should have or be supplied with limestone, inoculation bacteria must be provided, and a good seed bed is essential. Leaving out any one of these important factors will cause an alfalfa failure.

"A great many farmers have never fed alfalfa. There is a place for alfalfa as a feed onevery farm As a forage crop it is king of them all. For this reason and to eliminate the necessity of buying so much feed this campaign has been prepared.

"Alfalfa is the supreme roughage for dairy, beef cattle or sheep, is relished by hogs, is escpecially good for brood sows, is a fine feed for chickens, and can be fed to horses with excellent results.

"Its analysis is similar to wheat bran for which we pay high prices and it is so much richer as a feed than any other hay crop we feed that there is scarcely any comparison between them. To the men who have never fed any alfalfa, we can recommend it most highly.

"It is also the most productive hay crop we can grow. Three cuttings with an average yield per acre of from three to six tons per year are always produced. Alfalfa hay is selling at twenty dollars per ton today in Greene County. As a money crop therefore, it is in advance of any of our grain crops at present.

"A field of alfalfa will supply as much feed as two or three times that acreage of other hay. Cut the alfalfa, pasture or plow down the clover, build up the soil and raise better yields of grain at lower cost. The cost of producing grain crops is in inverse proportion to the yield. Alfalfa will help cut the cost."

Executive Committee Meets

A meeting of the members of the Executive Committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau will be held in the Farm Bureau office, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock .

FARMERS ENDORSE MOVE TO INCREASE ALFALFA

Proving the value of alfalfa as a crop, and the possibility of a larger acreage for it in Greene County, two farmers of the county have given their opinion of their experience with alfalfa. Joe Smith of Spring Valley Township put in three and one-half acres in 1921 and cut 21 loads of alfalfa hay in 1922. He is enthusiastic about the crop and is going to double his acreage in 1923.

E. J. Ferguson, of Beavercreek township, grows so much alfalfa he has to stack most of it out in the field. He feeds all he can of it, bales up the rest and sends it to market.

"Nothing like it," "Wouldn't be without it," "Yes, it is a nuisance when it has to be cut, but it is the most profitable crop I grow," are expressions of Greene County farmers concerning alfalfa.

"Greene County is essentially a livestock county, and to put bloom on livestock, and to make milk or meat there is no hay feed like alfalfa. Yet, there is only one acre of alfalfa on the average for every farmer in Greene County. Let us double that in 1923,' said County Agent Prince.

MOVIES WILL BE USED AT ALFALFA MEETINGS

For entertainment and instruction at alfalfa meetings February 5 to 10 several reels of moving picture films have been secured, according to County Agent Prince. The Farm Bureau has also secured from the International Harvester Company a set of 50 picture slides entitled "Alfalfa on Every Farm."

These pictures, together with the speakers and the general widespread interest in alfalfa and other legume crops, promise to give the people of the various townships a real treat.

MANY SOILS NEED TO BE TESTED SAYS CO. AGENT

"We have found some soils in Greene County sour enough to set a pig's teeth on edge to walk over it," said County Agent Ford S. Prince, this week, speaking of the value of soil testing, to be held in connection with the alfalfa campaign.

All farmers of the county are urged to have their soil tested at the meetings to be held Feb. 5 and 10, in order to learn whether their soil needs lime, and how much it needs.

A half pint sample is sufficient for a test, all samples to be secured a few days before the meeting in each township. The dirt should be allowed to dry in a warm room but not heated on the stove or oven.

Personal

Te entire family of Adam S. Huff who reside on the Edwin Dean farm of the Clifton pike have been ill of grip.

James, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Huff, suffered a dislocated ankle and minor bruises when his clothing was caught on the crank shaft of a gasoline engine at his home Friday.

CORN AND GRAIN SHOW AT BEAVERCREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE SUCCESSFUL; PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Featured by a corn and grain show that was judged to be one of the best ever held in this part of the state, splendid work upon the part of the boys and girls of the community and large crowds the Farmers' Institute held at Beavercreek, Friday and Saurday, was a decided success. Officers of the Institute, are being complimented for the excellent program, and the success with which the entire Institute was carried out. A particularly pleasing feature of the program were the parts taken by pupils of the Beavercreek High School, who furnished a large part of the program the first day splendid local talent being offered.

The outstanding address of the Friday program was that of H. P. Miller, Sunbury, on "A Program for Organized Agriculture," a talk of particular interest to farmers, many worthwhile points being given by the speaker. Mrs. Velorus Martz, of Columbus, gave an address during the evening session on "A Community Experience" and was well received by her audience. Mrs. Miller's evening address concerned "Science and Practice in Feeding."

Saturday's program consisted of two sessions "Woman's Work" being the subject of Mrs. Martz' morning address, Mr. Miller speaking in the afternoon on "Principles and Methods of Livestock Improvement." Short talks on topics of farm interest, discussions and musical selections were the remaining features of the program.

The success of the corn and grain show has been given to Fred R. Keeler, Smith Hughes teacher at Beavercreek high school, and to the boys of the agricultural department of that school. One hundred and thirty exhibits were shown at the show, every one being of outstanding merit, and high rating, as judged by W. M. Hardman.

The followin awards were announced as a result of the show:

GREENE CO. FARMER WINS LAURELS AT CORN SHOW

A. B. Lewis of Bowersville won first prize in the state corn and grain show during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University, this week, with his corn exhibit. The contest was held among the men who had made the 100 bushel corn club. Mr. Lewis having made that club in 1919, with a yield of 105.2 bushels to the acre. The corn exhibited at the state show was the same variety with which Mr. Lewis made the club, Reid's Yellow Dent.

The exhibit was made up of bushels of selected ears, 14 out of 49 who made the club exhibiting at the show, which was one of the finest ever held in the state. Mr. Lewis won a prize of a steel corn crib.

PLEADS GUILTY AND FINED ON CHARGE FOLLOWING RAID

Clarence Wakely, Spring Valley, was fined $700 and costs, when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate J. D. Jones, Friday afternoon to charge of possessing implements for the manufacture of liquor.

Wakeley, were arrested by a raiding party led by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, and a still and 200 gallons of mash were confiscated by the raiding officers. William Wakeley entered a plea of not guilty and will have his hearing in Magistrate Jones' Court, next Friday at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Members of the raiding party included dry agents from the office of B. F. McDonald, state prohibition enforcement officer, Columbus, and operatives of Zoll's Secret Service Agency, Springfield, who have been working up liquor cases in the county through arrangements with Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson. They also took part in the raid conducted by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy George Spencer Friday when John Monnett, Yellow Springs, was arrested and later fined.

MRS. SARAH KERSEY DIES SATURDAY

Mrs. Sarah Ann Hersey, 65, died at her home on Hudson Avenue, Saturday morning at 1:35 o'clock. Her death was due to heart trouble.

Surviving are two sons, Jerry and James and two daughters, Mrs. Amanda Fox and Mrs. Ida Pleukharp, all of Xenia. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Monday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of the Rev. Frank Watkin, pastor of the Nazarene Church and burial will be made in Woodland.

McClellan Neighborhood

The McPherson Community Club spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Van Eaton. A pleasant social time was enjoyed and an elaborate refreshment course was served by the scoial committee. Mr. Van Eaton will have a public sale Feb 26 but has not fully decided where he will locate.

The Harper farm has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Grant of the Burlington pike, they will move March 1.

SMALL AUDIENCE GREETS MINSTRELS

The minstrel first part was an especially pleasing part of the program for the old-fashioned black-face art and singing was carried through with dash and speed that never permitted lagging. The solos were well received and the chorus work was good.

The second part offered a number of novelty acts and comedy numbers, the best of which was the closing skit, with its lively comedy situations. The minstrel troupe played here through arrangements with the Standard Amusement Company.

ZIMMERMAN

There was an all day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, at the church, Wednesday, 22 ladies being present.

Much interest is being shown in the revival at this place. Rev. Haines preaches some very forceful sermons. To date, there have been 22 additions to the church.

Mrs. Homer Koogler has recovered from an attack of tonsilitis.

The Studenbaker sedan, belonging to I. M. Coy, and driven by his son, was badly wrecked at Zimmerman, Thursday evening, when it collided with another machine going east on the Xenia pike. The Coy machine was backing away from the gasoline station, when the collision occurred, which damaged both machines, but no one was hurt seriously.

The clever and economical housewife familiarizes herself with the various methods of clothes-renovation, so that she can avoid bills for dry-cleaning.

I have on my desk six letters from Reader Friends, each letter asking for advice on renovating either woolen, goods, silks or velvets. I will take up these three materials separately:

TO CLEAN WOOLEN GOODS: Gasoline, benzine or naptha are excellent for cleaning woolen goods. As these fluids are highly inflammable they should not be used near heat and flame. Ordinary spots, from grease or dust, can be removed by dipping a cloth in the gasoline and rubbing this on the spot. But there are many housewives who do not use gasoline; they think there is nothing better than the simple old-fashioned method of washing woolen goods in warm water and soapbark. To do this, get ten cents' worth of soapbark from your druggist and pour over it two quarts of boiling water. Let this stand until the strength is taken from the bark, then strain, and pour into a tub of lukewarm water. Let the material stand for one-half hour in the suds, then rub well and rinse in another water of the same temperature (to keep the goods from shrinking.) Press on the wrong side before thoroughly dry. You should always experiment first with a small piece of the material to be sure that it does not change color or shrink badly, under this treatment. If you find it does, then use the gasoline treatment. A badly soiled wool garment may be immersed in a gallon or two of gasoline, dipped up and down in it to loosen the dirt, then rinsed in clean gasoline and hung on the line until the odor has completely evaporated.

FOR SILKS: Mix six ounces of strained honey and four ounces of a pure white soap with one pint of good alcohol. Lay each piece of silk flat on a table and, with a brush, cover the silk with the mixture, first on one side and then on the other. Brush as little as possible and always straight up and down. Dip the silk in several tepid rinsing-waters, the last one mixed with a little honey. Do not wring the silk. Simply hang it up and, when half-dry iron with a cool iron on the wrong side.

VELVETS are cleaned by steaming. First brush it well to remove dust. Then put a hot iron in a box, wedged up-side down, and cover the face of the hot iron with a good-sized piece of wet muslin. This produces steam. Move the muslin along as it dries on the iron. Hold the velvet with its wrong side against the muslin and brush it carefully with a soft brush until the pile is raised—brushing against the nap. Another way to steam velvet is to hold it tightly over a pan of boiling water.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

Chapter 95.

The studio door was ajar and I heard voices. Quietly I pushed the door a bit further open, so that I might hear. There might be someone there I wouldn't care to meet.

To my surprise I heard Grace Harter's husky voice ,saying:

"What in the world ails you, Walt? You are as nervous as a witch, and cross as the dickens. What has happened to disturb your lordship? I thought everything was going famously. People went wild over that portrait of Miss Vernon and the one of Doreen and Jack. You are hard to please, evidently. I dropped in expecting to find you all 'sot up' with pride."

Breathlessly I listened for Walter's answer. No thought of shame at listening came to me, I was beyond any feeling of that kind.

"I am terribly out of sorts, Grace. But I didn't mean to take it out on you—yes, the portraits went great; I've several commissions as a result."

"Then, what is it? A new flirtation that isn't going to suit you?"

"Stop your kidding, Grace. You know well enough my 'flirtations' as you call them, are harmless; that i can't help raving over a beautiful woman. Probably will when I am 90, if I live to be so old."

"I believe you But come, fess up, what is the matter?"

"I'm as lonesome as the very devil! I can't stand it without Doreen. I have written a dozen telegrams for other is something my system isn't her to come home, then torn them up. She's so unselfish. I felt ashamed to ask her to come back, to shorten her visit ,but Gad, how I miss her!"

"You surprise me, Walter. I have thought many times you were almost indifferent to Doreen—I think she has—"

"Indifferent to Doreen! Why she's the only woman I ever cared a whoop for. If she doesn't come in a day or two I shall go fetch her, and—"

"What's that? Who are you going to fetch?" I said my heart thumping wildly for pure happiness. I had come prepared to give Walter up, only to hear that he loved me, had missed me; was unhappy without me.

"You, you rouge!" Walter's arms were around me, and I was sobbing on his breast.

"I never was so happy in all my life—never!" I exclaimed. Then catching a knowing look in Grace's eyes, that showed she suspected I had heard them talking, I added: "I had a lovely time, and father and mother did everything for me, as well as spoiling Jack. But there's no place like home—when home means you, Walter."

"I guess I'd better go. Married people going into rhapsodies over each accustomed to," Grace said dryly.

"Don't go, Grace. I remember when you and I thought we cared for each other. Puppy love is a queer thing. I took it out on you, I guess so that when Doreen came along I could give her the real thing."

I laughed joyously.

"Do, stay, Grace. Go home with us to dinner. We'll telephone George."

"No, thank you! I think I know my business too well to butt in on 'newly weds.' "

I went to the door with her, and she whispered:

"Best thing you ever did, going away and letting Walt miss you. He's been confiding in me, and I don't think you need worry ever again—but don't expect him to be a saint; he won't!" and the woman I had so disliked, had been jealous of, and who had proved the best friend I ever had, leaned over and kissed me.

For an hour Walter and I talked. He showed me more of his real self, his feeling for me in that hour than I had seen in the years we had lived together.

"I was becoming unbearable, Doreen," he said, with a shammed sort of a laugh. "I was like a small boy crying for his mother. The Mater has been fine, so has Grace and everybody, but they aren't you! I don't think I shall ever let you go for so long again. Why didn't you wire me so I could meet you?"

"I wanted to surprise you?" I replied, thinking how I had been surprised; trembling with the reaction.

"You did it all right I expect Grace thinks we are a couple of sillies crying in each others arms."

"I don't care what anybody thinks—about anything!" I replied happily.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My problem is a common one. She is twenty-one. I am twenty-six. We are college sweethearts and engaged. We have been together for years and we have the parents' consent to be engaged.

Shortly after our engagement she allowed a young fellow student to put his arms around her and kiss her and her conscience hurt her so she told me about it. I gradually forgave her that time.

When September came we both went to different parts of the state to teach. Her letters were sometimes very cheerful and made me happy, as I was very true to her and cared more every day that we were apart.

When we were home this Xmas I found out that she had been going with another young fellow where she teaches and had allowed him to caress and love her and had even become quite affectionate with him. When I tried to plead with her to tell me why she did it she scolded me for bringing up the past as she was going to do better now and didn't want to say anything about it. She did not ask me forgiveness this time as before, but only admitted in a joking way some of the things she had done. But she would not sit down and talk it over with me as I wanted her to do.

I am to buy her a ring soon and the problem is, shall I forget and forgive as I have always done with the hope that she will some day be a better girl or must I tell her I cannot give her the ring now as she is not sincere enough to me.

Would I be happy with her if we were married? She did not seem thrilled with our engagement, but still talks about the ring as though that were all she cared about. I sometimes feel she is selfish and does not appreciate what others do for her.

What can I do to make this girl see herself and try to do d... She says that she is going to be a better girl to me now. Will see?

PUZZLED.

There is little chance for happiness with that girl, it seems to me. She is hanging onto you so that if no one she likes better appears in a reasonable length of time and proposes, she will still have a chance to marry.

I would not buy the ring. Tell her that you do not feel as you used to and that before you can consider yourself engaged again she will have to show that she cares for you and no one else. If she sees her mistake and is loyal to you from now on, you would probably be safe in getting her a ring after a year has elapsed.

The girl is very young and finds it difficult to settle down to one man. She should not, however, permit others to make love to her when she is engaged. It is doubtful whether such a woman would be loyal to her husband, if romantic opportunities presented themselves after marriage. Some people are born with a sense of honor in such matters and they would not permit a new attachment before the first is honorably broken off. Others are self-indulgent and care nothing for honor they appear to be all right morally, but when temptation presents itself they fall.

To make the girl "see herself," tell her what you think of her conduct and refuse to be engaged under the circumstances.

"A Woodsman": Your letter will be regarded as confidential.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What should one say when congratulating a newly married couple?

I THANK YOU.

It is correct to congratulate the man and to wish his wife happiness.

LITTLE HISTORIAL SKETCHES OF GREENE COUNTY

So-called silver-tongued orators who declare that politics is now taking civilization by the hand and leading it to the well-known brink, where it is hovering, has been hovering and will probably continue to hover for some time, might receive a shock in the fact that politics have been played in Greene County ever since its organization back on March 24, 1803.

Politics first entered in the selection of the county seat, which was originally known as the seat of justice. The First General Assembly passed a law by which these so-called seats of justice should be determined upon and established by three commissioners whose duty it was to examine and determine what part of the county was best suited for the county-seat. The act provided that the county-seat selection should be as near the center of the county as possible

Ichabod B. Helsey, Balden Apsby and William McClelland were the commissioners selected to pick Greene County's seat of justice and were to perform the same duty for Montgomery County. In Greene County, it developed, there were many landowners who had visions of being proprietors of the new municipality. Thomas Carneal had laid out a town called Caesarsville on the Paris Peterson farm four miles south of Xenia in 1800 and in a very evident attempt to influence the commissioners, a court house had been built and a public well had been dug, and the town grew rapidly. Over in Pinkney, a small town on the Miami River in Beavercreek Township, the same aspirations were being nourished.

But the people of these villages did not reckon with John Paul, who settled in the county in 1797 and owned considerable land on Beaver creek. It took Lewis Davis, a large landowner, pioneer and public-spirited citizen to convince Paul that his property did not have countyseat qualifications, but that the new seat of justice should be located at the forks of Shawnee run, the spot now occupied by Xenia. Paul was not only ambitious, but far-sighted and quick to act. For the sum of 1,050 pounds current money of Virginia who purchased 2,000 acres of land in this section, which was then owned by Thomas and Elizabeth Richardson of Hanover, Virginia. The purchase was made June 7, 1803.

Paul had considerable influence in the community and later served as clerq of courts, clerk of county commissioners and clerk of the supreme court and county recorder. He began using his influence on the commissioners named to select the county seat, which is the first evidence in the county of the playing of politics on a large scale. The commissioners in making their report, recommended the property owned by Paul on which the city now stands. Joseph C. Vance was appointed director of the county to survey the county seat and lay out the town August 3, 1803 and on November 14, 1804, he bought the town site of 257 3-4 acres from Paul for $250, a little less than a dollar an acre. Before this transfer Paul, who evidently foresaw the growth of the city in future years, had donated one and one-half acres of ground for public buildings as in inducement to locating the county seat here. This land is now occupied by the Greene County Court House.

ENOUGH TO WORRY ANYONE

Life Lines
BY H.M.C.

THERE are many combinations that the world knows mighty well. What I mean is, things we mention in duet. And they come in close relations; just for instance, let us tell of a line of combinations we can get.

Ham and eggs is surely listed in the places where you eat and you'll also find the famous pork and beans. Many years they have existed and stood forth as quite a treat and have caused you to bring money from your jeans.

Then there's liver with its bacon that we all have heard about. And the well-known dish of beef and cabbage, too. Where's the man who has not taken cakes and sausage? There's no doubt that mere bread and milk have oft' appealed to you.

Steak and onions is a winner that is always bound to please and, another dish that's sure to hit you right, is the spare ribs and its sauerkraut or the bite of pie and cheese that you eat before you go to bed at night.

Now there may be many dishes that we've left out of this list, which are prominent at morning, noon or night. But, with these, our little wish is that the aim in mind's not missed and those mentioned give you all an appetite.

MIGHTY FINE MAN

JOHN MITCHELL, oldest baker in New England, is getting a lot of attention as he rounds out his 62d year in the baking business. His home is in Dorchester, Mass.

Mitchell is 73, but he still rises at 3 o'clock every morning, works until noon, then rests for a few hours. Around evening he shows up again in his bake-shop to look over the books and see that everything is in good running order for the next day.

How many other men at 73 are that active? Will you be? Mitchell says it's his hard work that keeps him in such excellent health. Some will sneer at that. But this much is certain: The man who keeps busy has little time to analyze his body's functioning and to worry over petty ailments until the mind expands them into serious illness. Worry and fear can make almost any one unhealthy—any one with too much time for thinking about himself.

Mitchell worked for others 21 years. Then he got into business for himself. Hard work and honest dealing have made his business successful, prosperous. Another reason why he does not worry.

Somehow we cannot help but wish that monuments could be erected in honor of hard-toiling men like Mitchell. They are the best citizens, the men on whose shoulders our civilization is carried.

The war hero, the movie star, the brilliant artist—all these are valuable to civilization in their own way. But there wouldn't be any civilization without the baker, the carpenter, the machinist, the miner and the host of others who are sort of lost in the shuffle and never heard of by the public at large.

Carry your head proudly, if you are performing useful service in life. Our great America is built on a foundation of faithful service by millions who deserve fame but seldom get it.

DRIVE TO MAKE GREENE COUNTY GREEN STARTS SOON

VALUE OF ALFALFA CROP WILL BE EMPHASIZED IN SERIES OF MEETINGS THROUGH NEXT WEEK

Launching the campaign to "make Greene County Green" County Agent Ford S. Prince, assisted by various committeemen, has arranged a series of meetings to be held over the county from February 5 to 10, when outside speakers, will be present to give interesting addresses upon the value of alfalfa as a crop, the meetings to be featured by free motion pictures, and "pep" programs.

Farmers of the county in whose community the various meetings will be staged are asked to bring their soil to these meetings for test to see whether they need lime. Ross, Silvercreek and Jefferson townships have been purposely left off the list of meetings since alfalfa has not been successful in these communities. Special meetings will be held for these townships later.

Here is the schedule for the meetings:

February 5, 7:30 p. m. Beavercreek Township H. S.

February 6, 1:30 p. m. Caesarcreek, Lodge Hall, Paintersville.

February 6, 7:30 p. m. Bath Township H. S.

February 7, 1:30 p. m. Miami Township, Farm Bureau Hall.

February 7, 7:30 p. m. Xenia Township, Court House.

February 8, 1:30 p. m. New Jasper Township, Church Basement.

February 8, 7:30 p. m. Sugarcreek Township, Township House

February 9, 1:30 p. m., Cedarville Township, Murdock Theater.

February 9, 7:30 p m., Spring Valley, Town Hall.

Outside Speakers Secured

Outside speakers for the alfalfa campaign include M. Frank Morgan, Extension Specialist in Soils, Ohio State University; and Harry M. Brandon, Limestone Specialist, of the Ohio Marble Company.

1—What type of soil is best adapted to alfalfa?

2—Is good drainage essential?

3—Will alfalfa thrive on an acid soil?

4—How can the need of limestone be determined

5—What are the fertilizer requirements of alfalfa?

6—How can the soil be inoculated for alfalfa?

7—What is the best way to prepare the land for alfalfa?

8—How much seed is required?

9—What are some of the best ways to obtain a stand?

10—Does alfalfa fit into a rotation with other crops

11—What are the advantages and disadvantages of "summer following?"

12—What are the advantages and disadvantages of growing with "nurse crop?"

13—How long can a stand of alfalfa be maintained?

14—What can be done to rejuvenate an alfalfa sod?

15—What is the best time to plow under an alfalfa sod?

17—How much nitrogen is taken from the air and fixed in the soil by the bacteria in the nodules of the roots?

19—Does alfalfa obtain any good material from the sub-soil?

Mr. Brandon will discuss the preparation and use of the ground limestone on soils, County Agent Ford . Prince will probably talk on harvesting and feeding alfalfa. Farmers who have grown alfalfa are urged to attend the meetings, and give in their experiences in growing, harvesting and feeding alfalfa.

PLACE FOR ALFALFA AS FEED ON EVERY FARM IS STATEMENT OF CO. AGENT

"Why should the Greene County Farm Bureau stage a campaign to increase the acreage of alfalfa within the confines of the county," County Agent Ford S. Prince was asked in connection with the alfalfa campaign being staged in the county, Feb. 5 to 10.

His reply was: "The reasons are many. Quite a number of Greene County farmers will attempt to grow alfalfa for the first time in 1923 regardless of the campaign. To insure their success is one big reason why it is important to bring the facts about alfalfa raising before them.

"Alfalfa is the most exacting crop that we produce. Drainage must be good, the soil should have or be supplied with limestone, inoculation bacteria must be provided, and a good seed bed is essential. Leaving out any one of these important factors will cause an alfalfa failure.

"A great many farmers have never fed alfalfa. There is a place for alfalfa as a feed onevery farm As a forage crop it is king of them all. For this reason and to eliminate the necessity of buying so much feed this campaign has been prepared.

"Alfalfa is the supreme roughage for dairy, beef cattle or sheep, is relished by hogs, is escpecially good for brood sows, is a fine feed for chickens, and can be fed to horses with excellent results.

"Its analysis is similar to wheat bran for which we pay high prices and it is so much richer as a feed than any other hay crop we feed that there is scarcely any comparison between them. To the men who have never fed any alfalfa, we can recommend it most highly.

"It is also the most productive hay crop we can grow. Three cuttings with an average yield per acre of from three to six tons per year are always produced. Alfalfa hay is selling at twenty dollars per ton today in Greene County. As a money crop therefore, it is in advance of any of our grain crops at present.

"A field of alfalfa will supply as much feed as two or three times that acreage of other hay. Cut the alfalfa, pasture or plow down the clover, build up the soil and raise better yields of grain at lower cost. The cost of producing grain crops is in inverse proportion to the yield. Alfalfa will help cut the cost."

Executive Committee Meets

A meeting of the members of the Executive Committee of the Greene County Farm Bureau will be held in the Farm Bureau office, Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock .

FARMERS ENDORSE MOVE TO INCREASE ALFALFA

Proving the value of alfalfa as a crop, and the possibility of a larger acreage for it in Greene County, two farmers of the county have given their opinion of their experience with alfalfa. Joe Smith of Spring Valley Township put in three and one-half acres in 1921 and cut 21 loads of alfalfa hay in 1922. He is enthusiastic about the crop and is going to double his acreage in 1923.

E. J. Ferguson, of Beavercreek township, grows so much alfalfa he has to stack most of it out in the field. He feeds all he can of it, bales up the rest and sends it to market.

"Nothing like it," "Wouldn't be without it," "Yes, it is a nuisance when it has to be cut, but it is the most profiitable crop I grow," are expressions of Greene County farmers concerning alfalfa.

"Greene County is essentially a livestock county, and to put bloom on livestock, and to make milk or meat there is no hay feed like alfalfa. Yet, there is only one acre of alfalfa on the average for every farmer in Greene County. Let us double that in 1923,' said County Agent Prince.

MOVIES WILL BE USED AT ALFALFA MEETINGS

For entertainment and instruction at alfalfa meetings February 5 to 10 several reels of moving picture films have been secured, according to County Agent Prince. The Farm Bureau has also secured from the International Harvester Company a set of 50 picture slides entitled "Alfalfa on Every Farm."

These pictures, together with the speakers and the general widespread interest in alfalfa and other legume crops, promise to give the people of the various townships a real treat.

MANY SOILS NEED TO BE TESTED SAYS CO. AGENT

"We have found some soils in Greene County sour enough to set a pig's teeth on edge to walk over it," said County Agent Ford S. Prince, this week, speaking of the value of soil testing, to be held in connection with the alfalfa campaign.

All farmers of the county are urged to have their soil tested at the meetings to be held Feb. 5 and 10, in order to learn whether their soil needs lime, and how much it needs.

A half pint sample is sufficient for a test, all samples to be secured a few days before the meeting in each township. The dirt should be allowed to dry in a warm room but not heated on the stove or oven.

CORN AND GRAIN SHOW AT BEAVERCREEK FARMERS' INSTITUTE SUCCESSFUL; PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Featured by a corn and grain show that was judged to be one of the best ever held in this part of the state, splendid work upon the part of the boys and girls of the community and large crowds the Farmers' Institute held at Beavercreek, Friday and Saurday, was a decided success. Officers of the Institute, are being complimented for the excellent program, and the success with which the entire Institute was carried out. A particularly pleasing feature of the program were the parts taken by pupils of the Beavercreek High School, who furnished a large part of the program the first day splendid local talent being offered.

The outstanding address of the Friday program was that of H. P. Miller, Sunbury, on "A Program for Organized Agriculture," a talk of particular interest to farmers, many worthwhile points being given by the speaker. Mrs. Velorus Martz, of Columbus, gave an address during the evening session on "A Community Experience" and was well received by her audience. Mrs. Miller's evening address concerned "Science and Practice in Feeding."

Saturday's program consisted of two sessions "Woman's Work" being the subject of Mrs. Martz' morning address, Mr. Miller speaking in the afternoon on "Principles and Methods of Livestock Improvement." Short talks on topics of farm interest, discussions and musical selections were the remaining features of the program.

The success of the corn and grain show has been given to Fred R. Keeler, Smith Hughes teacher at Beavercreek high school, and to the boys of the agricultural department of that school. One hundred and thirty exhibits were shown at the show, every one being of outstanding merit, and high rating, as judged by W. M. Hardman.

GREENE CO. FARMER WINS LAURELS AT CORN SHOW

A. B. Lewis of Bowersville won first prize in the state corn and grain show during Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University, this week, with his corn exhibit. The contest was held among the men who had made the 100 bushel corn club, Mr. Lewis having made that club in 1919, with a yield of 105.2 bushels to the acre. The corn exhibited at the state show was the same variety with which Mr. Lewis made the club, Reid's Yellow Dent.

The exhibit was made up of bushels of selected ears, 14 out of 49 who made the club exhibiting at the show, which was one of the finest ever held in the state. Mr. Lewis won a prize of a steel corn crib.
